GAMBLERS WARNED WHEN POLICE TO RAID

CURRIE CASE APPEAL NOW IS PREPARED

W. T. R. Preston and F. W. Wilson Are Seeking to Upset $500 Award

Preston Says Evidence About Order to Stop Operations at Mons Discovered

Toronto, May 15.—Setting forth among other things that he had discovered new evidence since the trial at Cobourg of the libel action brought by General Sir Arthur Currie against F. W. Wilson, publisher of The Port Hope Guide and himself, W. T. R. Preston of Port Hope to-day visited Osgoode Hall here to file an appeal against the decision which awarded Sir Arthur Currie $500 damages. Filing of the appeal was postponed until to-morrow, however.

The new evidence is stated to be to the effect that an order cancelling all operations was received by troops in front of Mons at 4.30 o'clock on the afternoon of November 10, 1918, and stating hostilities would cease at 11 a.m. the following day.

F. W. Wilson's appeal also will be filed to-morrow with slightly different reasons.

OVER QUARTER-MILLION OF DEBT RETIRED

Year 1927 Was Period of Progress For City in Financial Way

Proceeding on a regular plan for the retirement of its civic debt, Victoria last year paid off $236,453 in maturing debentures. No new loans were made during the year, according to the annual report of D. A. Macdonald, City Comptroller, presented to the City Council last night for incorporation in the annual report of the city.

The collections for 1927, stated Mr. Macdonald, were 88.94 per cent, compared with 88.1 per cent in 1926, and 82 per cent in 1923. During the year the city received $34,400 on account of the Goldstream timber purchase agreements, $30,000 odd of which was applied to the Dunsmuir mortgage on the watershed.

The Sooke Lake water system showed a loss of $11,539 for the year, mainly on account of $21,655 worth of debentures which matured in 1927 over and above debenture retirements on that account in other years.

The Goldstream system showed a loss of $1,221, which was less than anticipated, it was reported.

In the annual report of Ismay, Boiston and Holden, the books of the city were certified to be correctly kept, and some features were picked out for special mention. The auditors referred to an unstated surplus balance in the general purpose sinking funds, which had been transferred to surplus account. Upwards of $100,000 of this surplus has been voted into the budget this year to reduce the levy.

A shortage in the local improvement sinking funds was reduced during the year to $36,338, or by $15,481 during the period. The surplus in the general purpose sinking funds, and the reduction of the deficit in the local improvement sinking funds, came from excess earnings in sinking funds interest sums over legal requirements. The city received an average of about 5.25 per cent on its sinking funds throughout the year.

The auditors reported arrears in agreements for sale at $16,454, and $4,654 in interest sums outstanding.

The soldiers better housing plan worked to a renewed success, with the majority of all agreements carried by the city with soldiers in good standing.

NEW CHECKS ON LIQUOR PERMITS

Toronto, May 15.—Cancellation of some 3,000 Ontario liquor permits, 1,000 of them during the last few days, under instructions from Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, has resulted in the commission investigating the possibilities of compelling each applicant for a permit next year to present practically the same data as if he were applying for a passport, including a photograph of the applicant, his name, address, height, weight, complexion, color of hair and eyes, condition of vision and any deformities.

It is also suggested the applicants should be required to take an oath that everything answered is correct, under penalty of imprisonment, without the option of a fine.

DIRIGIBLE ON ARCTIC HOP NOW

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, May 15—The dirigible Italia's second polar flight started at 1.20 this afternoon. It was favored by very fine weather, sunshine and no wind. The airship with Gen. Umberto Nobile and his crew aboard, took a westward course in the direction of Greenland.

LAUNCH IS ASHORE AT JORDAN RIVER

Forty-foot Seiner Gardner M. on Rocks With Several Men Aboard

With several men aboard the forty-foot launch Gardner M. is ashore one mile east of Jordan River, according to a report received at 2 o'clock this afternoon by the Provincial Police. First news reached Victoria from the Government telegraph operator located at Jordan River.

The report stated that a strong westerly wind was blowing and that several men had been seen aboard the vessel. It is thought the launch is a seine fishing vessel.

Upon receiving news of the vessel's plight, H. A. Barnett, marine surveyor, made arrangements to have the Island Tug and Barge Company's tug Hopkins proceed to the scene to render any help possible. At the time of going to press it had not been definitely settled whether the tug would proceed to Jordan River or not.

Mr. Barnett also communicated with Vancouver in an attempt to ascertain the owners of the vessel, but up to a late hour no word had been received as to who owned her.

The U.S. cutter Snohomish is reported to be standing by, and the C.G.S. Malaspina is reported to be on the way to render aid.

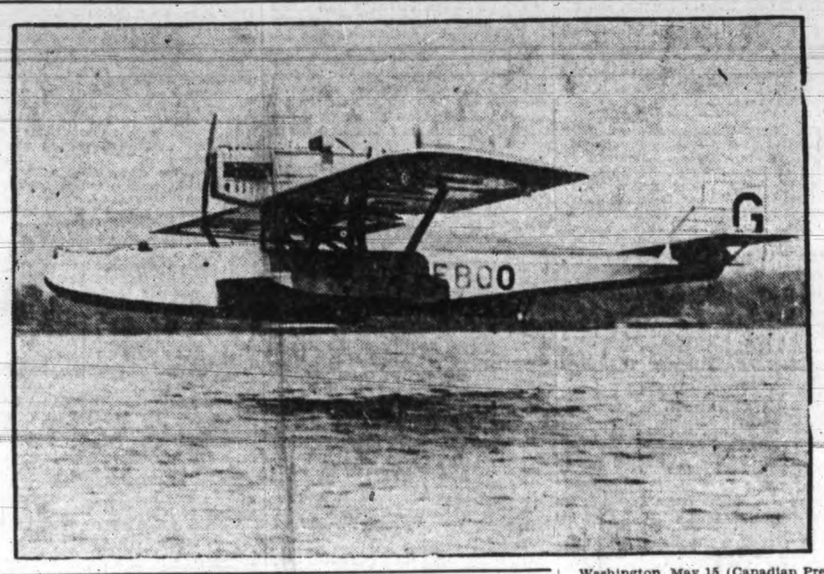
Courtney and Crew Ready to Try England-Halifax Flight



Washington, May 15 (Canadian Press)—Indicating Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British flier, and three companions, are ready to take off from England for a flight by way of the Azores to Halifax, the United States Navy Department has sent the following radio to all of the six naval districts:

"Capt. Frank T. Courtney, flying a Dornier Wah boat with a crew of three, will attempt a transatlantic flight, probably leaving Southern England and probably stopping a few hours at the Azores to refuel. The destination will be Halifax, if the fuel and weather permit, otherwise Trepassy Bay, Nfld. The plane is to be equipped with Marconi set and reception at 600 metres Call letters of the plane GCAJI. Courtney requests frequent weather reports and forecasts during flight from the Azores to America. The department will be advised of the departure from England."

Esquimalt Accords Rousing Reception To Mrs. M. E. Smith

A rousing reception was given Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith in Colwood Hall yesterday evening when both Esquimalt and Esquimalt district were represented to greet the Liberal candidate on her first appearance in the riding since her nomination to oppose R. H. Pooley at the next provincial election. Cheers greeted Mrs. Smith as she arrived at the hall, crowded with electors. The hall was taxed to capacity.

While this is the first address to be given by Mrs. Smith in the present campaign, Monday night's entertainment was not of a political nature, but was a reception tendered her by the Liberals of the riding.

E. Milne, president of Esquimalt District Liberal Association, acted as chairman and paid great tribute to the honored guest of the evening.

A. T. Weight, president of Esquimalt Liberal Association, declared the Liberals had a candidate worth working for and it was up to each and every Liberal to see that Mrs. Smith was elected by an overwhelming majority. He further stated the Conservatives of Esquimalt had never worked so hard as they were working.

SEEKS CO-OPERATION

Mrs. Smith was received with enthusiasm. She declared it gave her great pleasure to address the Esquimalt Liberals but she did not intend making a political speech. She rather considered it a get-together meeting. It was her desire to meet every man, woman and child and to have a happy understanding that was essential to success. To obtain success she must have the co-operation of every woman and every man.

It was true, she said, many wondered why a woman should be in the political arena. She felt her duty was national housekeeping, and 'was not ashamed to appear in British Columbia on her record of "housekeeping."

"If there is a fight on, I am in it with both feet," Mrs. Smith declared. She would do what she could for that portion of Vancouver Island. Her programme had always been big, broad and extensive in the past, and she assured the audience it would not be changed.

WORLD TROUBLE THIS MONTH SPEAKER SAYS

King's Hall Lecturer Quotes Pyramid Forecast of Last Tribulation of the Age

The last tribulation of the age will begin on May 29 and May 30 of this year, when great trouble for the nations of the world, possibly a devastating war, is predicted, E. E. Richards told a large audience in the King's Hall last night in the course of a lecture on "The Great Pyramid and Its Forecast of Great Trouble for the Nations of the World Beginning May 29."

"From a biblical point of view," he said, "the great political disturbances of to-day, are caused by the ending of the times of the gentiles, a period of 2520 years, commencing with the captivities of Judah. One of these periods ran out in 1917, and Jerusalem was delivered from the desolating Turk. This had been shown by various writers some forty years before the event transpired. The definite ending of these times occurs from 1928 to 1936, as shown by the second low passage of the great pyramid and confirmed by all writers on biblical chronology.

NEW AGE

"The next great event is due to occur on May 29, when we shall enter the second low passage, which is a symbol of the final tribulation or birth throes, out of which is born the new or millennial age," the speaker said.

Married Couples Who Never Fight Will Get Bacon

In a move to cut the divorce rate of Victoria and Vancouver, which is the highest in Canada, the surburban Metchosin Farmers' Institute has revived the old English flitch of bacon custom and on May 18 will stage the first public domestic and fidelity trials ever held in Canada for husbands and wives.

Husbands and wives of the community have to prove that they have lived harmoniously together for a year and a day. Under the old English custom dating back to Great Dunmow, Essex, 600 years ago, the couples who could prove that they had been so happily married were rewarded by a flitch of bacon. This custom will be followed out here and non-pugnacious Victoria and Island couples who pass the test will be rewarded as they are under the quaint Old Country custom.

TWO COUPLES COMPETE

So far two couples, both from Esquimalt, have come forward and applied for the reward, being ready to prove that they have been perfectly happy during the last 366 days. They are Mr. and Mrs. F. Prudd and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brown.

Their evidence will be examined publicly next Friday by a committee of Victoria lawyers, including J. Stuart Yates, Harold Beckwith, inquisitor, and Roy Manzer, as pleader. Records of the examination in England show that sometimes couples came and went for thirty years before one couple was found to fill all the requirements.

E. P. Ash has been appointed beadle, and H. J. Pierce, keeper of the records for the first inquiry.

Manchester, N.H., May 15.—News of a severe earthquake in the remote Nishifutamo region of Japan was received here early this morning by Stuart Davis, amateur radio operator, who was the first man to report the landing of the German monoplane Bremen at Greenly Island, Quebec, from Ireland.

Davis intercepted a message from Station JUPP, believed to be at Twaiki, which said the quake had occurred Saturday during a heavy storm and that at least 100 lives had been lost and an undetermined property damage sustained.

The message said communication had been cut off and a relief expedition organized.

Lottery Men In Vancouver Not Taken By Surprise By Police Raids, Says Witness

Chinese Who Swears He Had Share in Gambling House in Terminal City Gives Sensational Evidence at Police Inquiry Before Commissioner R. S. Lennie; Says House Received Back Gambling Equipment as Soon as Police Court Fines Paid

Vancouver, May 15.—Testimony that he and his partner, Chow Wong Lum, who operated a gambling house, knew beforehand when police were going to raid the place was given by Joe Yem, the first witness at this morning's session of the Vancouver police inquiry being held by R. S. Lennie as special commissioner.

The Chinese said the house had received back the paraphernalia seized in the raids as soon as the proprietors had paid the police court fines. The amount of the fines was entered as running expenses of the house, together with items such as rent and money paid for police protection, the witness added, in the course of a lengthy and interesting examination by G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher.

Yem reiterated his statement, made on the witness stand yesterday afternoon, that his partner, Chow Wong Lum, had told him that he paid $50 a month for police protection and that Lum had wished to increase this to $200.

Commissioner R. S. Lennie did not render his decision on the admissibility of evidence which Yem was about to give yesterday afternoon regarding recipients of the alleged protection money. He suggested counsel should examine the witness on other matters until it should be discovered whether Chow Wong Lum could be found and placed on the witness stand.

COUNSEL SPEAKS FOR CHINESE

At the opening of the session this forenoon, W. W. B. MacInnes announced he was appearing for Shue Moy.

After considerable argument by G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Flecther, Commissioner Lennie announced he would further postpone his decision as to the admissibility of evidence given yesterday afternoon by Joe Yem in connection with remarks said to have been made to him by his partner, Chow Wong Lum, regarding alleged protection money paid to the police. Chow Wong Lum could be brought to the stand and if he failed to testify, the question of Joe Yem's evidence could be ruled on, Mr. Lennie stated.

This was agreeable to Mr. McGeer, who then proceeded to examine Joe Yem, through an interpreter.

POINTED AT SERGEANT

The Chinese declared he knew Detective Sergeant George McLaughlin of the morality squad. He was asked to point out McLaughlin and did so.

In reply to questions by Mr. McGeer, the Chinese declared he had been a gambler at 846 Main Street from May 18, 1927, till October 17 of that year. As far as he could remember, the place was raided twice, although perhaps it was raided more, he added.

"How many were in the place when it was raided?" asked Mr. McGeer.

ARRESTS DESCRIBED

Through the interpreter the witness replied that the first time there had been five or six men in, of whom three were arrested. Joe Yem was one of those arrested and was taken to the jail. The men who were not arrested, he said, were white men, who were playing lottery.

"Why were they not taken?" asked Mr. McGeer.

'Because Lum told me that if any police raided the place, to tell them not to arrest too many and they would do it,' replied Joe Yem through the interpreter.

MORE MONEY

"Was there any discussion between you and Lum regarding raising the amount of protection money?" asked Mr. McGeer.

"First he paid $50 a month. Then in October, when Jackson came back,

IMMIGRATION EVIDENCE IS STATED FALSE

Hon. E. J. McMurray Tells Commons Committee He Did Not Trade in Permits

STATEMENT MADE BY MR. McMURRAY

Winnipeg, May 15.—Hon. E. J. McMurray, former Solicitor-General of Canada, characterized as "utterly false" the statement made before the Commons immigration committee in Ottawa to-day that he had ever been engaged in obtaining immigration permits.

"I don't believe Hon. Robert Forke ever made any such statement," he said. "I was scrupulous to keep this class of work out of my law office. I never received a single penny in connection with immigration work. If this witness or any other person will repeat such statements where he has no protection, I will seek redress in the proper way."

Ottawa, May 15.—Alderman Coldwell of Regina, a witness before the special House committee investigating immigration, this forenoon named Hon. E. J. McMurray, former Solicitor-General, as having been engaged in obtaining immigration permits. Alderman Coldwell said he had received the information from Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, during a conversation they had in Mr. Forke's office in March last year. There was also mentioned a former member from the Maritime Provinces, but Mr. Coldwell could not remember the name.

Ald. Coldwell was pressed to give exactly the words used by Mr. Forke.

NICOLA RIVER IS NOW FLOODED

Families in Town of Merritt Are Forced From Homes

Merritt, B.C., May 15.—Swollen by melting snows on the high hills, the Nicola River has overflowed it banks at the northern end of this town and forced several families to evacuate their homes.

Cattle, which were drowned in the river at Lauder's Ranch during the Winter, were seen floating down the river.

Nicola Lake is higher than it has been for many years and, should the warm weather continue, traffic along the lake shore road may be endangered.

CHANG TSO-LIN NOW AT TIENTSIN

Shanghai, May 15—The Japanese News Agency says Marshal Chang Tso-lin, Northern Chinese dictator, left Peking in an armored train, arriving at Tientsin on Sunday.

COLD STORAGE PLANT HERE IS AGAIN REVIVED

H. G. Brown and Associates Now Ready to Proceed With Scheme, City Is Told

The creation of a terminal warehouse with modern cold storage facilities on a site at the Ogden Point piers of the Canadian National Railway, one of the first recommendations made by Roger D. Pinneo, former industrial adviser to the city, is again revived.

H. G. Brown, who was among the first to investigate the field for the establishment of such a plant here, after an initial failure to finance the scheme, did not abandon his faith in the project. Now he is in communication with the city, asking the city to do its share in applying for a lease of the necessary site at Ogden Point.

Mr. Brown's request that the city proceed under the terms of the Terminal Warehouse By-law, passed last year, by applying for the lease to the Federal authorities, was tabled for early consideration by the council.

The by-law, ratified by the electorate in the Summer of 1927, gave Mr. Brown the option of proceeding with his plan at any time within thirty days after the securing of the lease mentioned. The by-law is still effective, and can be used to complete negotiations, it is understood.

ION NOW FACES SEATTLE TRIAL

Hockey Referee Accused of Driving Auto So It Injured Little Girl There

Seattle, May 15.—F. J. (Mickey) Ion, reputed to be a wealthy fox farmer and a nationally-known hockey referee, is at liberty here to-day under $3,000 bail. Ion was arrested Sunday night after his automobile had struck and severely injured a twelve-year-old girl here. Infuriated witnesses of the accident had attacked Ion when the police arrived. He was charged with driving while drunk and with failure to stop after an accident.

RETURNING FROM FOX FARM

Ion has an extensive silver fox farm near Tacoma, and makes frequent trips from his home in Vancouver, B.C., to his Pierce County holdings. It was following such a visit Sunday evening that his car knocked little Betty Miller from her bicycle near Twenty-fifth Avenue North and East Miller Street.

The little girl was reported recovering in Providence Hospital.

It was feared she had been fatally injured.

Mickey Ion is known personally to many of the citizens of Victoria and by reputation as a hockey referee to all the residents of the city. During the years he was referee in the old Pacific Coast Hockey Association, and afterwards in the Western Canadian Hockey Association, including prairie teams, Ion was a frequent visitor here, his work in controling the games between the Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and other teams being highly regarded.

He went East as a referee a couple of seasons ago and is now one of the best known referees in the National Hockey League.

FLOODS MAKE WORKERS IDLE

Further Rise in Ottawa River, But No Casualties Reported

Ottawa, May 15.—The closing of the Hawkesbury Lumber Company's sawmill at Hawkesbury, Que., because of the high water in the Ottawa River has caused 350 men to be thrown out of employment. Upwards of 1,000 men in Ottawa and Hull have been laid off as a result of the floods at the Chaudiers Falls, where the J. R. Booth sawmill and a number of paper mechines of the E. B. Eddy Company have been closed down.

There is very little change in the flood situation to-day. The Ottawa River went up about two inches during the last twenty-four hours, but this was not enough to cause any great alarm. Heniwaki reports a slight lowering of the Gatineau River at that point, but at the mouth there was no change where a large portion of the village at Gatineau Point is under water.

From a Streatham schoolboy's essay on clergymen:

"There are three kinds of clergymen—bishups, rectors and curats; the bishups tell the rectors to work and the curats have to do it. A curat is a thin, married man, but when he is a rector he gets fuller and can preach longer sermons and becums a good man."

For Swollen Joints

Most remedies fail, but Joint-Ease succeeds.

It limbers up stiff, inflamed, painful, creaky joints so quickly you'll be astonished.

Two seconds' rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask MacFarlane Drug Co. or any reliable druggist. (Adv.)

MAJOR MOODIE IS HEARD AT DUNCAN

Liberal Organizer Tells of Progress of Liberalism Throughout Province

Duncan, May 15. — Major S. F. M. Moodie, organizer of the Liberal Party in British Columbia, addressed a well attended meeting in the K. of P. Hall, Duncan, Monday evening. In a most interesting speech he told of the progress of Liberalism throughout British Columbia. The principles of Liberalism are the political salvation of the country, and Liberalism is a very broad and vital thing, he said.

The work of organization of the Liberal Party in B.C. is going on very strongly, and in recent by-elections this has been proved conclusively. There is a well marked spirit of harmony in the Liberal Party in B.C., Major Moodie said, and this will be shown at the next election.

C. H. O'Halloran gave a most elucidating account of the debt of the Province, making figures almost interesting.

Songs by Mrs. H. P. Swan and Max Bricknell were much enjoyed, Miss Cowie acting as accompanist.

Mr. Thomas, the new president of the Duncan branch, was in the chair, and explained the meeting was really in compliment to Mr. Cowie who has just retired from the office of president after nine years of service, and to whom a presentation was to have been made, but he was unfortunately obliged to be away from the district for a few days.

Reeve Evans proposed a vote of thanks to the speakers and singers, which was ably seconded by Mrs. Rofe.

Refreshments were served under direction of Mrs. Currie, Mrs. Hattie, Mrs. Perratt, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Rofe and Mrs. McIntosh, and dancing to Cawdell's orchestra concluded a pleasant evening.

Tommy Thinks So

Teacher—Tommy, you've not done a stroke of work this morning, and I've told you again and again that the devil finds work for idle hands to do.

Tommy—Yes'm.

Teacher—Now take your copybook and write that out twenty times.

A soccer match was to be played between two amateur clubs who were old rivals. In fact, this particular match was always inclined to be like a dog-fight. The referee, however, did not turn up and the rival captains set about the task of finding a substitute. They saw in the crowd one who they imagined would fill the bill.

"I say," said the home skipper, "you know enough about football to referee this match, don't you?"

"More than that," replied the spectator. "I know enough not to referee it."

CITY TO SIT ON RAIL PLAN

Parley With Chamber Suggested as Means of Unifying Request to Railway Board

City's Policy in Regard to Financial Aid Is Debated

A joint conference between the industrial and works committees of the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce special committee on the rail switch plan, and the City Engineer, was decided on by the City Council last night, on a motion from Alderman H. O. Litchfield, chairman of the industrial committee of the council.

The Railway Board will sit at the City Hall on June 27 at 10.30 a.m. Before that date the city hopes to have arrived at an agreement with the Chamber of Commerce committee as to what form the application made by the latter to the board will take.

Alderman E. S. Woodward again proposed city assistance to the proposed interswitching rails between the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National tracks on the Industrial Reserve, in the form of a $10,000 grant in aid of the work, but met with council resistance, and no action was taken on this phase of the issue. Instead, the council went informally on record as being opposed to taking any official part in the application to the Railway Board, or to being assessed with any proportion of the cost.

Alderman J. L. Mara thought the interlocking rails was a matter entirely for the railway companies to achieve. Any city intervention in the application to the board might be met by a bill for $30,000 or $40,000. The city would be putting its head into a noose to join in the application to the board, but he had no objection to the joint conferences proposed, he stated.

Alderman J. B. Clearihue stated it was merely a question of what the city's view would be on the issue. The City Council would be asked for its view, and should be prepared with some definite plan to suggest, or with some definite opinion on any plan suggested.

Alderman Woodward remarked the city was already on record as offering $10,000 to the cost of the rail switch plan.

Alderman Mara denied this. The City Engineer had suggested some such action in his report, but the council had declined to adopt it, he stated. A search of the records proved Alderman Mara correct.

As far as he was concerned, stated Mr. Woodward, he would favor a city grant of $10,000 to the plan, if the level crossing were eliminated.

In any event the council would have an opportunity to approve of any plan ratified by a joint conference, stated Alderman P. R. Brown, who concurred with Alderman Litchfield in stating that the city would be better off for a round table conference with the Chamber of Commerce on the issue. This action carried. The date of the meeting was left open for arrangement.

Langford, May 15.—On Wednesday, May 16, at 8.30 p.m., the final card party of the season will be held in the club rooms of the Prince Edward Branch, No. 91, of the Canadian Legion.

Bridge and 500 will be played and prizes awarded. A contest will provide amusement for non-card players.

In honor of Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13, Miss Lois Peacey, teacher of the junior room, and her pupils entertained their mothers at a delightful entertainment in the schools Friday afternoon. A programme was pleasingly given by the young pupils, followed by a vocal competition, which was won by Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, who received a pretty souvenir.

Mrs. A. H. Peacey and Miss L. Peacey, assisted by the pupils, served tea, after which a vote of thanks was accorded the hostesses by Miss Kelly, seconded by Mrs. H. A. Hincks. Hamish Bullen responded on behalf of the junior school. The programme consisted of an amusing health play by all the children, assisted by three of the older scholars. The programme was as follows:

Song, "Children's Dreamland," by Glenys Smedley, Beryl Yates, Donelda Clark, Betty Looney and Jean Clarke; recitation, "Frogs at School" and "Nursery Rhymes," Rex Jackson; recitation, "Bed in Summer," Harold Oswald Hincks; duet, Glenys Smedley and Rex Jackson; chorus, "White Caps," by the pupils.

VICTORIA BEATS VANCOUVER WITH SUMMER SIGNS

Victoria beat Vancouver by just about forty-eight hours with Summer this year, according to straw hat indications. Telegraph dispatches from Vancouver boast of the "first straw hat man" appearing in that city Saturday, leaving on the night train for Regina, where he hoped to launch the season yesterday. R. S. Mabee of Pemberton & Son forestalled this hardy adventurer of the mainland by two days, however, having been noticed early last Thursday wearing his "straw," and now they are too commonly worn to excite comment.

C. F. Boyel Demonstrates High Qualities of Treated Product

On a tour to give lectures and demonstrations on the manufacture and high qualities of Ethyl gasoline, C. E. Boyle, representing the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation, a subsidiary company of General Motors Limited, has arrived in Victoria.

Mr. Boyle, who is accompanied by C. L. Moffat, Ethyl gasoline representative with the Union Oil Company of Canada at Vancouver, is representative for the Ethyl company in Western Canada. His territory includes that part of Canada from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast.

While in Victoria Mr. Boyle will give a number of lectures. Yesterday afternoon he gave an interesting lecture at the Begg Motor Company's showrooms, while this evening at 8 o'clock he will speak at Thos. Plimley's showrooms, Yates Street.

Mr. Boyle gives a demonstration employing a motor run by gasoline, and which is used to show the difference in detonation produced by ordinary gasoline and the treated product.

Mr. Boyle stated to-day that General Motors Limited spent eight years in the development of Ethyl gasoline. During this time no less than 33,000 chemicals were used during the experiments.

The visitor states that within two years Ethyl gasoline will be used universally and by that time it will be the same price as is now paid for ordinary gasoline.

During their stay here the officials will give a demonstration before the local fire department.

The party will leave for Nanaimo on Friday morning.

Does Your Mortgage read like this?

"——and if the giver of this mortgage dies before the payment is completed no further payments need be made and the home will become the property of his widow so that his family will be sheltered as securely as if he had lived——"

Of course it doesn't. But wouldn't you be willing to pay say 2% more interest per annum to ensure such a result?

An Imperial Mortgage Protection Policy will provide funds to take care of your mortgage if you should die. But, should you live—as you expect to—it will give you a substantial sum of cash for your own use, and if you become permanently disabled, it will provide you with a monthly pension. Why not have this worth-while protection now?

SENATE DELAYS LIQUOR BILL

Will Consider Protests From Provinces Before Finally Voting on Measure

Ottawa, May 15.—When the bill respecting inter-provincial and international traffic in intoxicating liquors was before the Senate for third reading last night, Senator Dandurand, Government leader in the second chamber, said he had replies from nearly every provincial government protesting against the amendment adopted by the Senate to the effect that any person could convey alcoholic liquors not exceeding one-half gallon from one province to another without being liable to prosecution under this act. It was claimed by the provinces this would seriously interfere with the enforcement of the provincial liquor laws. Senator Dandurand suggested third reading be withheld until Tuesday next to give the Senators an opportunity to consider the protests from the provinces.

This suggestion was adopted.

LOTTERY MEN NOT SURPRISED WHEN POLICE IN VANCOUVER MADE RAIDS, SAYS WITNESS

he said there were two men and $50 was not enough and he wanted $200. That was why I sold my interest in the place," was the reply.

"They wanted us to pay $200 per month and then we could open up 1-2-3 games," said the witness.

"Did you work in other gambling places?"

"Yes. I worked at 262 Columbia, 17 Trounce Alley, 95 Powell Street, 20 Powell, 747 Powell and some on Cordova and Water Streets," said the witness.

TELLS OF GAMES

The witness stated they were all lottery joints conducted on the same basis as his establishment at 846 Main Street. Some of them ran the game of 1-2-3 as well as quick and slow draw, he said.

In reply to questions by Mr. McGeer, Joe Yem described in detail the method of playing quick draw, a lottery. This revealed that various sums might be won by the purchaser of a ten-cent ticket, varying from 10 cents to $1,000 if the purchaser's ticket bore the fortunate combination of numbers. At the end of the description Commissioner Lennie said it appeared the game was a typical lottery.

"I have no doubt of it," said Mr. McGeer, "but as far as I can learn the chances of winning at all in the game are extremely small."

EVIDENCE ON TURNOVER

The establishment at 846 Main Street was of ordinary size, said the witness in reply to further questions. It had had an income varying from $40 to $100 a day. It was not as large a business as that conducted at 17 Trounce Alley, where he had formerly been employed. He said the income of the latter place was $110 daily or more, but how much more he could not state as he had not kept the books there.

"Do you know of other gambling places in the city?" asked Mr. McGeer.

The witness replied that he did and named 56 Powell Street, 20 Powell Street, 214 Carrall Street, and others. The place at 214 Carrall Street was a large place run by Shue Moy, he said.

LABORERS PLAYED

Continuing his examination of Joe Yem, Mr. McGeer asked the witness what sort of people played in the gambling places he had mentioned.

Yem—Never can tell, but they were mostly laborers. Some of them were gamblers, who live on gambling, just like Chinese.

Mr. McGeer—Chinese don't play these games?

Yem—No.

Mr. McGeer—Did police ever come there when there was no raid on?

Yem—Sometimes police came to have a look, but they never sat down.

Mr. McGeer—You were not afraid of the police?

Yem—Boss man told me not to be afraid.

Mr. McGeer—Do you know Inspector Jackson?

Yem—Yes, I do.

R. L. Maitland, counsel for Sergeant McLaughlin, interposed to say Inspector Jackson had asked him to say the inspector wished to retain counsel if it were necessary. Mr. Maitland protested against leading questions by Mr. McGeer.

Mr. McGeer—Did Inspector Jackson ever come to the place when there was a raid on?

Yem—Yes, he must come there before they could make arrests.

Mr. McGeer—Did he ever come where there was no raid?

Yem—Yes, he come to my place when raid was not on. I don't know if he had warrant that time, but he didn't make arrests. He came to 846 Main Street. There was no gambling going on that time.

Mr. McGeer—Did McLaughlin ever come there?

Yem—Yes.

Mr. McGeer—Was there playing going on at that time?

Yem—McLaughlin in my place several times. Sometimes people there, sometimes not. He did not make arrests.

EQUIPMENT RETURNED

Mr. McGeer—Was paraphernalia ever taken away?

Yem—Yes.

Mr. McGeer—Did it ever come back?

Yem—Yes.

Mr. McGeer—Where did it come from?

Yem—Boss man got it back.

Mr. McGeer—How long was it away?

Yem—They raid to-day. Preliminary hearing and fine to-morrow. We got it back then.

Mr. McGeer—Who paid the fines?"

Yem—Boss man paid that and at end of month he told me to make the entry.

Mr. McGeer—That was part of the expense of running the house?

Yem—Yes.

Mr. McGeer—Did he ever pay the fines of gamblers as well as those of employees?

Yem—Yes.

Mr. McGeer—Was that a regular practice?

Yem—In most of the places.

The witness said three out of five or six in the place were generally arrested when a raid was made at 488 Main Street. That was the general practice in the raids he saw.

KNEW RAIDS COMING

Mr. McGeer—Did you know beforehand when a raid was coming?

Yem—In most cases.

Mr. McGeer—When you knew, what happened?

Yem—Boss man told us to let them take one or two men to the jail.

Mr. McGeer—Chow Wong Lum?

Yem—Yes.

Mr. McGeer—Where did he get his information?

Yem—I don't know. He told me he paid $50 a month for police protection.

CLEARING HOUSE

Mr. McGeer—Do you know anything about a clearing house where the big prizes were paid?

Yem—Yes. It was on Pender Street. I don't know who runs it.

Mr. McGeer—Why did you quit gambling in Vancouver?

Yem—When I work at 846 Main Street they want to pay $200 a month to police. After five months, counting up fines, police protection, rent, provisions and wages, we taken in $1,000.50 in profit; $200.30 comes to me. I figure that if we pay $200 a month to police everything would go to police.

WAS ARRESTED

Mr. Maitland then repeated a list of numbers of alleged gambling houses and asked the witness if he had worked in these establishments.

Joe Yem replied in the affirmative. He also replied he had been arrested in those places.

He had been arrested once by Sergt. McLaughlin at 846 Main Street, he said in response to a question whether McLaughlin had arrested him there three times.

Joe Yem was then asked if the place had been raided in August, September or October of last year, but he declared he could not remember. After he had left the place in October, he declared, it had continued to operate, the "boss" taking another partner.

TWICE AS MUCH

"Now you said you were asked to pay twice as much protection in October because Inspector Jackson had come back?" asked Mr. Maitland

The witness replied he did not know when Jackson had come back, but the "boss" had told him he intended to pay $200 instead of $50 a month for protection and he could thus open a "1-2-3" game.

"What did the boss say to you about Jackson coming back to his office?" asked Mr. Maitland.

"The boss said," replied Yem through the interpreter, "that Jackson was back and $50 was not enough and that he would pay $200 and start a '1-2-3' game."

"Did you know that Inspector Jackson was back in April of last year?" asked Mr. Maitland.

"I don't know. I only know what the boss told me," was the reply.

YESTERDAY'S SESSION

Acting-Chief Daniel Leatherdale, the only witness at yesterday morning's session, was recalled when the proceedings were resumed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. G. H. Cowan, K.C., counsel for Chief H. W. Long, proceeded immediately to cross-examination.

In reply to questions, the Acting Chief declared there were 250 men on the force at present, against about 298 in 1912 under Chief Chamberlain. Since that time, said the witness, the traffic question had demanded greatly increased attention. The liquor law enforcement required a great deal more attention also than in 1912, he said.

At present, said Deputy Chief Leatherdale, the force was undermanned, although increases had been requested annually for the past two or three years.

In reply to further questions, Acting Chief Leatherdale declared the present squad system was the same as was in effect when Chief Long took office as head of the police department.

THE CHIEFS

Mr. Leatherdale answered questions about the various chiefs since he had joined the force thirty-one years ago.

"Why did Chief Chamberlain resign?" asked Mr. Cowan.

"Things were not going his way," replied the witness. "There was the question of the jail building, for one thing."

"Mulhern."

"What happened to him?"

"He died after about a year as chief. He had lots of worry," replied the Acting Chief.

McLELLAN MURDERED

Mulhern's successor as chief, said the deputy, was McLellan. He suffered a partial paralytic stroke when he was in office, the witness declared in reply to a question. He was shot and killed.

McRae, the next chief, resigned.

"He was a nervous wreck," said the deputy.

McRae's successor was Anderson, who was chief for four or five years, said the witness.

"Was he a nervous wreck?" asked Mr. Cowan.

"No," replied the deputy chief, "he was not very nervous. He resigned and was reappointed to his former position as inspector."

Chief Long was the next incumbent and had been in that position for four or five years, said Acting Chief Leatherdale.

CHINESE LOTTERIES

Mr. Cowan then referred to evidence that there had been considerable Chinese lotteries operating outside of Chinatown. He asked Deputy Chief Leatherdale when that situation had begun to get bad.

"About the latter part of last year," said the witness.

Some questions on the reports on these places followed.

"Notwithstanding anything the mayor might have said," asked Mr. Cowan, "these places were ordered closed by the chief?"

"They were closed," replied the deputy.

"And they were closed on the instructions of Chief Long?" asked Mr. Cowan.

"Yes, the chief called in Inspector Jackson about it," said the witness.

"As a result of Detective McLeod's complaint, all the places he mentioned were closed?" asked Mr. Cowan.

"Yes," replied the deputy chief.

ALWAYS DID DUTY

"Did you ever know the chief to be influenced in his judgment by anything the mayor may have said?" queried Mr. Cowan. "Didn't he always do his duty?"

"Yes, as far as I know, he did," responded the witness.

"So, if the mayor did suggest to the chief that because of an undermanned force, the police should devote their attention to major crimes, the chief nevertheless always did his duty?" asked the barrister.

"I think the chief was very honest about doing his duty," was the reply. "He did his best."

CLOSED UP

The witness said all the Chinese lotteries outside of Chinatown had been cleaned up since January or February of this year.

"Before this inquiry started?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

In reply to further questions in this respect, the Deputy Chief said there were still a few such places trying to sell tickets in restaurants and other such establishments.

Mr. Cowan then referred to Sergt. Tuning's evidence that he had been deprived of secret service funds.

Mr. Leatherdale refuted the suggestion that Sergt. Tuning had been denied the use of such funds, and declared that the sergeant had always received every assistance from the chief and the deputy.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN

A. H. MacNeill, K.C., commission counsel, asked the witness if conditions within the city under control of the morality squad were not much improved within the past month or two, and the witness replied that they were.

Mr. Cowan interrupted and asked permission to further examine the witness. This was granted. The barrister asked Mr. Leatherdale how many disorderly houses there were in the city at present. Mr. Leatherdale stated he could not tell him that. Nor was he able to tell Mr. Cowan how many there had been during Chief McRae's time. He had no figures on the subject. Mr. Cowan suggested that in Chief McRae's time there were sixty-six and today there were fourteen. Mr. Leatherdale could throw no light on the number. He said they were pretty hard to keep track of, as they kept moving all the time.

Disorderly houses had been largely eliminated from residential districts under instructions from Chief Long, said the witness.

FACTOR IN CLEAN-UP

Mr. MacNeill asked the witness if it was not possible that the knowledge that an investigation was about to be held was not responsible, in some measure, for the clean-up which had been effected since the first of the year. The witness replied that it might have been a factor.

Asked if the gambling houses had been closed up recently. The Acting Chief said that they were "pretty well closed up," but he did not believe that gambling houses could ever be closed entirely.

HOW ADVERTISING PAID

BY THE END OF APRIL LAST YEAR the amount collected in Dominion income taxes was $9,450,439. By the end of April this year $23,850,615 had been collected—an increase of more than $14,00,000.

Last year the Department of National Revenue relied upon the ordinary methods of tax collection. This year it used the newspapers to advertise instructions about filling up tax papers, the schedule of taxes, and other details that made the annual business simple for everybody.

Three points are worth noting: The efficacy of newspaper advertising, the efficiency and enterprise of the department, and the prosperity of the Canadian people.

The advertisements were well displayed and carefully compiled and we may assume that the Dominion and other governments of the country will feel like enlarging their use of organized newspaper publicity.

MAY 28 IS THE DATE

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THOSE WHO may have forgotten the date, it is fitting at this time to remind them that the next great war is scheduled to commence on the twenty-eighth of this month. This prediction was made at a meeting of British-Israelites in London last October. Mr. Basil Stewart set the date and the gathering at which he set it was presided over by Lord Desborough. Incidentally, the duration of this war will be a little more than eight years. It is to end on September 16, 1936.

Mr. Stewart based his prediction on the symbolism of the Great Pyramid, combined with what he termed the forecasts of the Bible, while he asserted that the conflict would be accompanied by unprecedented convulsions of nature, floods and earthquakes. Britain, he pointed out, and other countries which are the "port of Israel" will emerge victorious, but Russia will have to look forward to being completely wiped out. That was as far as Mr. Stewart appeared to be willing to go; but he obviously covered the field pretty well.

Correspondence which followed Mr. Stewart's prognostication furnished other details of the coming conflagration. The principal battleground interested us more than anything else. We were told that this "war to end war"—much more appalling in size and character than the Great War—would be fought in the valley of Jehosaphat, "round about Jerusalem," but we still are unable to reconcile the suggestion of Russia's complete eclipse with the place of her undoing. The whole area of Palestine is something like nine thousand square miles—or less than half the size of Vancouver Island. That would be about enough room to manoeuvre an army corps or so.

There must be something radically wrong with pyramidal symbolism if British-Israel students have read the signs correctly. Nor have we been told just how the arrangement for a scrap between the hordes of Muscovy and the opposing forces which are to rout them will be made. Now that the date of the great event approaches, however, perhaps it will be possible to obtain a little more authentic information. The prospect of being caught unawares is not pleasant to contemplate.

A SOLDIER PIONEER

COL. HOLMES, WHO PASSED AWAY on Sunday full of years, was a prominent figure in the military life of Canada for a long time. He will be well remembered by old-timers as the district commanding officer at Victoria in the eighties when this place was an army and navy base of considerable importance and when soldiers and sailors contributed much color to the life of the community, particularly on fete days. Many people here will recall the part played by these forces in the three-day celebration of Queen Victoria's jubilee in May, 1887, the principal feature of which was a sham-battle at Beacon Hill, followed by an army and navy review which perhaps was the most impressive display of its kind ever presented here. In those days a sham-battle was a spectacle worth seeing. Sailors were landed from the fleet, which usually consisted of five warships, and they were resisted by the land forces whose heavy guns were placed on Beacon Hill and the embankments.

In all of these activities Col. Holmes was an outstanding figure, a soldier to the finger tips. His contemporaries in the naval service here included officers who later became illustrious figures in the British navy, among them being Sir Michael Culme Seymour, Admiral Hotham and Admiral Stephenson, as well as many junior officers who since then have risen to high positions in their country's senior service. Col. Holmes was in command of the force of local militia and sailors which went to Port Essington on H.M.S. Caroline to overawe Skeena Indians who were believed to be on the war-path. It was during this period, also, that the famous C Battery of the Canadian permanent force under Colonel Peters, accompanied by its fine band, arrived in Victoria, the first unit of Canadian regulars to be stationed here. Later Colonel Holmes was transferred to the East, eventually returning to Victoria, which he always regarded as his home, where he again became D.O.C. until his retirement in 1909. He was an able officer, a strict disciplinarian, just and upright, and had the full confidence of his superiors in the Canadian military service.

GIVING CAROL HIS ORDERS

ALTHOUGH HE HAS BEEN GIVEN fair warning and plenty of time to make his arrangements, the tone which the British Government has adopted towards ex-Crown Prince Carol of Roumania is an unmistakable order to get out or run the risk of being put out forcibly. Home Secretary Sir William Joynson-Hicks stated in the House of Commons yesterday that the exile's host had given an undertaking to have Carol out of the country by Thursday of this week at the latest.

Great Britain for long has been the haven of refuge for former kings and other royal personages who have got into trouble in their own countries; but it always has been made clear to them that their liberty and comfort could be purchased only at the expense of their agreement to behave themselves and not abuse hospitality by resorting to intrigue and plot. Carol can not profess to be a stranger to British methods. Nor could he expect Scotland Yard to ignore the movements of one with such a colorful record and reputation. Its officials have a knack of making it very uncomfortable for people who defy the law. Social or political status does not interest them.

There was a dispatch from Paris yesterday, incidentally, which imparted more mystery to the movements of Carol and their possible effect upon future events in Roumania. The Echo de Paris expresses the view that the ex-Crown Prince has been caught in the toils of Moscow and that Soviet authorities there, and "a notorious Communist" in the French capital, are constantly in touch with him. Intrigue of this sort may or may not assist Carol's designs upon the crown now worn by his young son; but it adds interest to the record which neither seems to shame nor worry its owner in the least.

DIVIDENDS FROM PLAY

THE CALGARY HERALD DRAWS ATtention to the fact that the municipal authorities of London, Ontario, will spend $14,000 this year on improvements and in the operation of the municipal golf course in that city. No part of this sum will be contributed from taxes, we read, because the entire amount is surplus from last year and the estimated income from membership and green fees. London has had a civic golf course for four years and all capital and operating expenses have been paid from playing fees. In addition, The Herald points out, the city has bought an eighty-acre addition to its park property without drawing upon the public treasury.

London's experience, of course, has been the experience of many other Canadian and United States cities. In numerous instances the municipal golf course, apart from the advantages it confers upon those who are not able to afford membership in a private club, now is regarded as one of the most profitable civic investments. In every province of this Dominion, and no doubt in every state across the border, new courses continually are under construction. Indeed, in many American communities the player who patronizes a municipal course during the week-end finds it necessary to line up soon after dawn in the Summer months in order to make sure of his round. The popularity of the game is increasing all the time, while, regarded as an industry, it represents an investment of hundreds of millions of dollars.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FINE SENTIMENTS

(From The Toronto Daily Star)

About the only things our manufacturers and producers are willing that we should import from Britain, to the extinction of our native products in the same line, are unmaterial and imponderable things, not merchantable—such things as sentiments, emotions, devotions and allegiances, flags and songs, stories and traditions. Of all that class and variety of thing that may be broadly described as inheritances having to do with the life of the spirit and not the body of the man, our manufacturers and producers are ready and willing importers. They are willing that patriotism should be little heard of here, and plenty about loyalty. They have no objection to substituting for love of country that which they describe as a larger thing, love of the Empire with its vastly greater and more varied geograph. But they don't want us to import British boots and shoes, clothes, kitchenware and a thousand things that fetch a cash price sold over the counter.

Canada wants to give British goods a preference in this market, but if the goods begin to come in, nobody must be surprised if a demand arises to keep them out. The granting of the preference pleases loyal sentiment here, but the actual coming in of the goods clashes with material interests. Canada wants to trade with Australia, a sister dominion, but if she sends in too much butter and eggs a demand arises that this must stop. As a people we glow with a fine sentiment towards our family of nations, but nobody is prepared to see business injured here—certainly not his own business. It is all very complicated, but deeply interesting.

CORDOVA BAY

To the Editor:—At Cordova, only seven miles from town, we have one of the finest beaches in Canada. Yesterday we had an exceptionally fine day—what better combination could one wish for?

Yet to the ordinary man, woman or child, Cordova was apparently as much out of the question as was the Riviera. Presumably one stage went out at 11, and one came in at 6 o'clock. At least that is all that one could discover from inquiring at both ends. No one knew where to seek information.

Perhaps there was more accommodation, but who knew?

Give Cordova to Seattle, to Vancouver, or to any town in the Old Country, and see how they would cater to their residents in the way of busses—almost as well as we cater to outsiders.

When the writer pointed this out to a resident of the Bay he said the stage would not make any more runs for fear of running empty. Probably people have been stranded out there so often because of an uncertain schedule that they fight shy of going.

Dandurand Named On Commission

Washington, May 15 (Canadian Press)—Senator Raoul Dandurand has been chosen independent commissioner for the United States on the commission for the advancement of peace in case of a dispute with Brazil. The Government here has just filled a number of vacancies on commissions which were set up in 1905 and 1914 by the Bryan treaties, which have been concurred in my many foreign powers, including Great Britain. Under the treaties each country chooses one national and one non-national commissioner.

AHEAD OF ANY PROVINCE

Mrs. Smith quoted a statement made by Tom Moore, president of Trades and Labor Council of Canada, at Geneva, and also at Edmonton, Alberta, that the social, domestic and labor legislation of British Columbia was ahead of any other province in Canada.

A son person knew when the election was going to be, Mrs. Smith asserted she would not go into election matters then but felt sure when the Government called upon the people to respond, the Government would be returned with a larger majority.

The service she would render personally would be equal to what she had in the past rendered the Province of British Columbia as a whole. If Esquimalt decide to make her a national housekeeper, she would go into the corners and do for this part of Vancouver Island what should be done for it.

The present Government, stated Mrs. Smith, was the finest British Columbia had ever had. There was very little to choose from, or look forward to, in the opposition as it sat in the House to-day. The Conservative Party had been suffering from an absentee leader.

In conclusion Mrs. Smith stated that when next she addressed the Esquimalt Liberals she would tell what the Government would do when returned to power.

Premier MacLean, Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, and Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, arrived late in the evening, while dancing was in progress, but the music was stopped while they gave brief addresses.

The Premier touched upon Mrs. Smith's political record in commending her as a candidate whom Esquimalt electors could enthusiastically support. In supporting Mrs. Smith they were also supporting a Government in which they could have every confidence, he said.

Congratulations to Esquimalt on its choice of a candidate were extended by Mr. Manson and Mr. Barrow. W. M. Ivel also added his congratulations to the electors of the district on their choice.

Norman Whittaker, Liberal candidate in Saanich, conveyed greetings from the Liberals in Saanich to the Esquimalt Liberal Association, and felt sure success was in store for Mrs. Smith.

WITH LIBERAL MEMBERS

David Ramsay, president Saanich Liberal Association, felt convinced there would be a change in members of Vancouver Island, and that both Esquimalt and Saanich would be represented with Liberal members.

He felt a signal honor had been bestowed upon Esquimalt's prospective candidate inasmuch as she had been chosen recently at Ottawa president of the National Federation of Liberal Women, representing National Liberal Association of Victoria, and A. E. Humphries, vice-president Victoria Liberal Association. Both speakers congratulated Esquimalt on their choice of a candidate and were convinced victory was ahead. Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith was a fighter, and the time had come when Esquimalt needed a fighter.

During the evening a solo was rendered by Mrs. W. Petrie, "The Song That Reached My Heart," and F. A. Smedley of Langford sang with great feeling, "Bells of the Sea."

Mrs. J. J. Pilgrim, on behalf of the Esquimalt Liberals, presented Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith with a beautiful corsage bouquet of roses.

Refreshments were then served and dancing was enjoyed, excellent music being supplied by Jerry Schofield's three-piece orchestra.

Peggy was often naughty, and on one occasion, when she had been particularly trying, her mother, hoping to be specially impressive, said:

"Don't you know that if you keep on doing so many naughty things, your children will be naughty, too?"

Harry Duker Sells Out Business For $300,000

Vancouver, May 15—Completing negotiations with the E. L. Ruddy Company of Toronto Monday afternoon Harry Duker, president of the outdoor advertising firms which bears his name, disposed of his business, which covers branches in Victoria, New Westminster and other points in British Columbia, to the eastern organization. Approximately $300,000 is involved in the deal. The new owners will take over the business July 15.

Mr. Duker founded the firm eighteen years ago. He will continue to reside here and will assist the new owners in an advisory capacity for a while.

The deal was put through practically in a day. Mr. Duker had not seriously considered a sale until the Toronto representative made the offer. It is a coincidence that earlier in the day a California capitalist opened negotiations with Mr. Duker. Later the Canadian firm made a bid.

How Much Water Should Baby Get?

A Famous Authority's Rule

By Ruth Brittain

Baby specialists agree nowadays that, during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight-pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by the breast-fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle-fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and restless spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhoea, gas on stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc., leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever-increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold.

HEAVY TOUR PARTY BOOKING

Gray Line Lists 72 Parties to Visit Victoria This Summer, H. B. Olson Announces

Seventy-two parties composed of between fifty and 250 people from all parts of the United States, Canada and England, will visit Victoria this Summer, according to an announcement made this morning by H. B. Olson, manager of the Gray Line Motor Coach Company. Mr. Olson returned recently from a trip to Chicago, where he completed arrangements for these parties.

Up until the present time last year only forty-two parties had been booked to come to Victoria, Mr. Olson stated. Out of the seventy-two parties, eleven of them will be special trainloads which will arrive in Victoria every Saturday for eleven consecutive weeks. These parties, which are being operated by the Guild Craft Company, of Chicago, will each comprise about 175 persons. Arriving here Saturday afternoons from Seattle they will proceed to the Empress Hotel to make their headquarters. During their stay here they will take the Gray Line Company's combination land and water trip and also the suburban tour. The parties will leave on Sunday afternoons for Vancouver. These parties are being routed to the coast by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway via Yellowstone National Park, and will return over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

During their trip the Guild Craft house parties will only stay at three hotels, namely, the Empress, Hotel Vancouver, in Vancouver, and the Hotel Washington, in Seattle.

A great number of these tour parties have been arranged in connection with the big Kiwanis convention to be held in Seattle this Summer. Several of them will also be composed of different church organizations.

Independent tourist business so far this season is about thirty per cent heavier than last year, Mr. Olson stated to-day.

NEW COACHES

While on his trip to Chicago Mr. Olson ordered two new large Gray Line motor coaches for the Victoria to Sidney run. One of these coaches, the Mount Shepherd, has already arrived and is now in operation between Victoria and Sidney. The second stage, the Mount Finlayson, is expected here on Thursday and will be put into operation on May 24.

The Gray Line Company are now giving standard Yellow Coach service between Victoria and Nanaimo and between Victoria and Sidney, Mr. Olson said.

BUYERS RUSH TO GET SAANICH LOTS

Investors Make Many Bids For Municipal Holdings

Announcement by Reeve Crouch last week that Saanich would not consider disposing of its realty holdings except at a strong price, has resulted in a flurry of land sale inquiries and many offers to purchase properties.

When the Council convenes on Thursday evening the largest group of sales ever approved at one session of the Council will be awaiting attention.

Election campaign anticipations of Reeve Crouch as to revenue to be obtained from realty sales will be greatly exceeded if the present activity continues. Nearly every session of the Council this year has confirmed a score or more of sales. Reeve Crouch estimates that over 200 properties have been restored to the tax roll since the year opened.

For some weeks past the Council has been selling properties at the list price, the twenty per cent discount effective for more than two years being abolished.

The stiffening of the price apparently made no reduction in the interest of investors in Saanich holdings, and announcement of a possible sale en bloc has proven an effective stimulant.

Reeve Crouch points out that sales at less than the list price are still possible, the Council granting concessions to local investors who propose immediate construction of improvements.

VETERANS DRAW BACK PENSIONS

Britannia Branch's Efforts Net $1,000 Cheque For Disability Man

The Britannia Branch of the British Empire Service League is making a very strong effort to carry out the wishes of the late grand president, Earl Haig, who, in a speech a few days before his death, urged that all branches of the British Empire Service League should ever remember the soldiers' eternal command, "carry on."

A special effort has been made to clear up certain pension cases in the interest of their disabled comrades, and the branch is fairly well satisfied in connection with one or two awards that have been obtained. The major results were a cheque for one comrade of well over $1,000 and a second award was obtained in another case with retroactivation back to August, 1924.

"It is becoming increasingly obvious that, as time goes on the calls on the British Empire Service League to deal with pensions are becoming heavier and heavier," says the secretary. "This is undoubtedly due to the fact that the ex-service men generally, the majority of whom are fast approaching middle age, begin to feel disabilities incurred while on service with the forces, which ten years ago they were content to ignore.

"The matter is one which is causing the executive council of the Britannia Branch very grave concern, as the pensions committee has reported the pressure is becoming a little too heavy, and though the branch would greatly deplore having to curtail any work on behalf of its disabled comrades, a halt will have to be called somewhere."

Sidney

Sidney, May 15.—The Deep Cove Social Hall was the scene of a very successful entertainment Friday evening when the bachelor girls of the district entertained at a dance.

About one hundred and twenty-five people gathered and thoroughly enjoyed the evening's programme. The hall had been specially decorated with Spring flowers and sprays of cedar while the dining-room, which was in charge of the Misses M. G. Copithorne and Lilian Woods assisted by girl friends, was beautifully decorated with Spring flowers.

A well arranged programme of up-to-date dance numbers was supplied by Schofield's four-piece orchestra. At 11 o'clock came the first call for supper and on being seated at the tables the guests were confronted with an abundance of delicious refreshments. Music for the supper extras was supplied by Miss Adeline Crossley of Victoria and A. Critchley.

A. Stevens was the holder of the lucky ticket which won a set of dishes.

Miss Rose Matthews, left on Saturday for Seattle where she will visit for a few days with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dolence.

Mrs. J. H. Peck left to-day for Vancouver where she will join her husband who left a few weeks ago to accept a position as engineer there.

Institute Women of Islands Open Rally At Duncan To-day

Aim to Make Rural Life More Permanent and Prosperous, Says Mrs. F. Campbell, President; Mrs. J. D. Gordon's Report

(By Times Representative)

Duncan, May 15.—"We are all, as a group of women, bound together by these gracious chains of friendship, sympathy and interest in a common cause, that of making rural life more permanent and prosperous; of making the isolated farm women feel that she is one of a great sisterhood that is now reaching all over the British Empire—the group known as Women's Institutes, which I have been proud to serve as president of the Islands District."

The sentiment enunciated by Mrs. Frank Campbell, of Esquimalt, in her presidential address was the keynote of the annual meeting of the Islands District Conference of Women's Institutes, which opened this morning in the Oddfellows' Hall, Duncan. Mrs. Campbell said in part:

"In looking over the period which has elapsed since taking over the presidency of the district, I think I may safely say that my attention has very largely been given to the welfare of small institutes and to reducing any unnecessary burdens laid upon them.

HELPED SOLARIUM

"The first undertaking was the Potato Fair—the profits to go to the Solarium. The institutes brought in supplies of various sorts and sent representatives to cook and serve, and the undertaking was admirably carried out in spite of many difficulties.

"The garden party at Government House resulted in a comfortable little sum to add to the depleted treasury, a sum which I had hoped to use in reaching the isolated institutes.

HICKMAN FILM

"The Hickman film resolution was taken up and sent out by our board over the whole Province. It was an international film doing neither more or less than glorifying murder and that morbid sensationalism so harmful to all, and especially to young people. Two large Provincial organizations were given the opportunity of taking the matter up, but failed to realize its importance.

"But the District Board, on being approached by the superintendent, saw the necessity and importance of urging on all good citizens the prevention of this deplorable film being shown in Canada. The work was done by your District Board thoroughly, and I am glad to say, successfully, for the Attorney-General at once, on receipt of letters from the women of British Columbia, placed this film on the forbidden list. And the torches of the Alberta women were lit from ours, for they have written in the kindliest terms to say so.

RUG-MAKING

"A rug demonstration in the Chamber of Commerce, organized by that body, the superintendent of institutes and the District Board, was presided over by our District Convener of home economics, Mrs. J. L. Brown, and was an unqualified success. Over 500 people attended this demonstration.

"Just a few weeks ago, as president of the district, I co-operated with the superintendent, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, and the Provincial president, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, in an exhibition of quilts, rugs, lace and other industries at the recent Home Products Fair held in the Armories. Lace from Denman Island of a most beautiful quality and appearance excited much attention, as also did the wonderful quilts shown, both old and new. Some of the quilts shown were afterwards sent on to Vancouver, where they were awarded a prize.

"There were demonstrations of quilting, rug braiding, glove making and rug weaving, and a wool comforter was made from start to finish by Lake Hill and South Saanich Institutes.

REMOTE INSTITUTES

"But as I have stated, as president I have considered the small and the isolated institutes and during my term of office have not only visited all institutes near at hand, but have gone further afield and visited many of the more remote among the Gulf Islands and elsewhere. I may safely claim to have visited more institutes than any of my predecessors and have found a most gracious welcome. To ascertain the problems and needs of each institute requires a more personal acquaintance than can be achieved by correspondence only and this I have endeavored to establish.

"When any sick institute members came to hospital in town, they were visited by myself and other board members. And when members of one of our little isolated institutes were heavily bereaved, the members of the board were not unmindful of their grief and sought to show friendship and sympathy as well as practical help in readjustment of living arrangements.

Mrs. Campbell expressed her thanks to the members of the board for their co-operation and to W. J. Bonavia, of the Department of Agriculture, and Dr. H. E. Young, Provincial Health Officer, for their ever-ready assistance.

DELEGATES PRESENT

Delegates attending the conference are: Representing the board, Mrs. Frank Campbell, president; Mrs. R. Nimmo, vice-president; Mrs. J. D. Gordon, secretary; Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. Williams (Colquitz), directors, representing institutes:

Cedar, Mrs. Chambers; Cobble Hill, Mrs. MacMillan; Colwood, Mrs. S. Goodall; Cowichan, Mrs. Appleby; Cortes Island, Mrs. E. Pickles; Denman Island, Mrs. J. Moseley; Esquimalt, Mrs. George Wise, Mrs. Booth; Hornby Island, Mrs. S. Parnell; Lake Hill, Mrs. A. P. Webb-

INTERNATIONAL MIND IS SUREST PATH TO PEACE

Rev. Ada Tonkin Urges Women to Combat War Psychology

"We must try and inculcate a mentality which learns history not in terms of battles and revolutions but in terms of a succession of movements showing the triumph of thought over environment," pleaded Rev. Ada Tonkin in the course of a brilliant address on "The International Mind and War Psychology," before the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon.

RACIAL PREJUDICE

Describing war psychology and the reaction of men and women to certain events, she pointed out that these reactions were often motivated or controlled by prejudice or prejudgment. This pre-judgment was often unconscious, but in her opinion, unconscious thinking or prejudgment could be more harmful than conscious thinking. The words "foreigner," "Bolshevist," or "Fascist," immediately brought a certain picture to the mind through subconscious prejudice, "yet one wonders how far such a picture might be from actual fact." Unconsciously the mind was swayed and habituated by racial and religious prejudices, thus accounting largely for the war psychology.

"The only time when we can think rationally of the cause of war is in times of peace," said Mrs. Tonkin. She recited a poem written in England during the war, in which the soul of a soldier from each of the belligerent nations tells why he fought "for freedom," showing the attitude of the common mind when confronted with a specific war. But this spirit of fighting for freedom, while it actuated the men who suffered the agonies of war, did not actuate the men who planned the war.

WILL ENTERTAIN BUSINESS WOMEN

Kumtuks Hostesses to Visitors From Nearby Cities May 26

Business women from the neighboring Canadian and U.S. cities, including a contingent of about thirty from Vancouver, will be the guests of the Kumtuks Club for the week-end of May 26, in accordance with the club's practice of encouraging visitors to the city for the Victoria Day celebrations.

At the supper meeting held in the Y.W.C.A. last night, with Miss Cameron presiding, plans for the entertainment of the visitors were furthered. This will include a banquet at the Empress Hotel on Saturday, May 26, at 6.30, and luncheon at the Beach Hotel on Sunday. This will be followed by an informal round-table conference, and in the afternoon and evening the visitors and members will be the guests of the club executive at the home of Miss Wigley, Burdette Avenue.

Miss Cameron, the president, Miss Wigley, Miss Bowron and Mrs. H. P. Hodges, with other club members, will act as a reception committee to greet the visitors on their arrival on Saturday afternoon.

Announcement was made that Mrs. E. G. Maynard had left yesterday to represent the club at the annual meeting of the Washington State Federation of Business Women being held in Walla Walla this week. The news that Miss Jane Mills of Everett, the popular State president, had met with a motor accident, necessiating the amputation of a finger was received with genuine regret, and the club formulated an expression of sympathy to be sent to the convention.

WOULD ENFORCE LAW PROVIDING SEATS FOR CLERKS

The law which requires the provision of seats for women clerks in stores should be enforced, members of the Local Council of Women urged at its meeting yesterday afternoon, and the committee on laws for women and children will look into the matter.

Mrs. Layard introduced the subject, stating that many of the girls in the larger stores suffered in health through having no opportunity of relaxing. It was suggested that the managements of the stores be approached on the subject.

Endorsement of the principle of Bible reading in schools was given the matter being brought before the meeting in a resolution from the Allies Chapter, I.O.D.E. The resolution aroused some discussion, some members expressing the view that only selected passages should be read, without comment by the teacher, and the resolution was referred back to the sponsors for more explicit wording.

On the suggestion of Miss Lottie Bowron, convener of the citizenship committee, the council went in favor of Empire Shopping Week in Canada being held in the week of Empire Day, May 24, thus conforming to the Empire-wide observance of the movement.

Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas brought in an interesting report of the lecture on "Companionate Marriage" given by Dr. Lyle Telford, touching upon the salient points. She also spoke of having secured the removal from the bookshelves of the public library of a recent book.

Mrs. C. de V. Schofield will represent the council at the national meeting to be held in Toronto early in June, the announcement being received with much pleasure.

You Need More Than a Smile

By Edna Wallace Hopper

It's pleasant to know that your glistening white teeth fascinate and allure. But we who make an earnest study of health and youth preservation demand more than cleanliness. The enamel and gums must be protected.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

To assure the greatest precaution against wearing away of precious enamel I have had to understand personally the effects of the various ingredients of the tooth paste I use, which is called Quindent, the "five-in-one" dentifrice.

I am convinced that it not only cleanses and polishes the teeth perfectly, but it purifies the breath and, above all, counteracts the ever-present acids. This last protection is due to one of its most valuable properties—milk of magnesia, which I used to use separately as a mouth wash before expert scientists had produced Quindent.

Quindent is not a biting, sharp dentifrice. Its action is sure and mild. The taste is pleasant and I advise you to leave a slight coating of it on the gums and tongue, which is effective for hours. You can obtain Quindent at any toilet counter. (Adv.)

"and ... I promise to keep that schoolgirl complexion"

Thousands are doing it through this simple rule in natural skin care, followed in this way:

WOMEN used to lose the priceless charm of youth, then struggle everlastingly to regain it. Today, by following natural and proved ways in skin care, they keep it.

Start by avoiding the use of unproved ways on your skin. A good complexion is too priceless for experiment. You can retain natural charm and freshness through the years simply by taking ordinary precautions with your skin.

Foremost skin specialists of the world recommend soap and water cleansing as the first rule in skin care. Leading beauty experts employ it. Results are proved on every side. Try it—it will do much for you.

The rule to follow if guarding a good complexion is your goal

Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging the lather softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all. Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Avoid this mistake

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or one represented as of olive and palm oils, is the same as Palmolive.

And it costs but 10c the cake! So little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain a cake today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes.

New York Tennis Player Reports Loss to Police

New York, May 15.—The loss of jewels, valued at $100,000, which she said she left in an overnight bag in a taxicab, was reported to police tonight by Mrs. Alfred H. Chapin, well-known tennis player, at Crescent Hills, Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. Chapin, accompanied by her two-year-old son, Kay, and a nurse, arrived at the Grand Central Station yesterday afternoon, entered a taxicab and were driven to the ambassador. As she entered the hotel she said she remembered she had left the overnight case in the cab, which had driven away when a hotel detective went out to hail the vehicle.

She told police the bag, which bore the identification, "A. H. Chapin, Crescent Hills, Springfield, Mass., contained a platinum bracelet set with diamonds, a platinum lorgnette with a diamond chain; a bar pin set with diamonds, sapphires and emeralds, a platinum ring with a diamond inset surrounded by a cluster of diamonds, a string of pearls with a platinum clasp, a platinum laveliere with diamond pendant, an oval-shaped pin set with diamonds, a wrist watch with onyx strap, crystal and pearl beads, a book-shaped man's watch with mother of pearl back, two diamond rings, and a ruby dinner ring with diamond cluster. She said the jewels were insured.

INTERNATIONAL MIND IS SUREST PATH TO PEACE

WHERE CHURCHES FAIL

Ignorance and lack of understanding of other nations was one of the most prolific causes of war, declared the speaker. She deplored the lack of teaching of world history and understanding of other nations in the schools, declaring that even in the churches and Sunday schools where sentiments were enunciated on the equality of all peoples, the inference was subtly conveyed of the inferiority of those races who did not accept Christianity but adhered to other religious faiths.

The League of Nations was doing an excellent work in teaching people that each nation had something to contribute to humanity at large. The international mind sees the utter imbelicility of war, denies the right of any one nation to dominate another, and recognizes the organic unity of all nations, according to the speaker.

THE IDEAL STATE

The ideal state would be the recognition by all men of the interdependence and co-ordination of all sections of humanity to such an extent that no nation would more readily contemplate the mutilation of another than would one member of the body deliberately harm the other.

GOLDEN RULE INADEQUATE

Dr. Felix Ardler, a great humanitarian and philospoher, had expressed the view that although the Golden Rule was a lofty ethic, it did not allow for the diversity of humanity. It worked well in individual relationships, but failed in economic and political relationships and the wider relationships between nations. As an alternative he suggested that individuals and nations might adopt the principle of "So act as to elicit the unique in another and thus elicit the unique in yourself." In this unity but not uniformity of society would lie the key to harmonious relations between nations.

"Individual development is not something we can achieve by ourselves; it must be achieved through contact with others. Instead of thinking of ourselves as members of certain nations, let us think of ourselves as members of one planet," urged the speaker. Only thus would tolerance and understanding be born.

The international mind could be achieved only through education; by taking an account of the primitive movements, by an intelligent interest in the past, by seeking to see behind the political manoeuverings which cover the real issues, by not divorcing ethics from politics, but above all by allying the international mind to the international heart. The international mind was the psychology of human relations everywhere and at every point, the mental attitude towards the other fellow who thinks differently.

PACIFISM UNFASHIONABLE

"To-day it is almost fashionable to belon gto the League of Nations, but not to be a pacifist," said Mrs. Tonkin. "The fact of its being respectable should give us pause, for that means that one is apt to adopt it without clear thinking. The unthinking mind which lends itself to the peace movement is just as likely to be quickly overthrown by belligerency when war comes. The first principles of peace must be beyond the power and fashion of the moment," she continued. "The old idea of a pacifist was of a milksop, an irritationalist, but on the other hand, pacificism is virile and sees in love, reason and reconciliation not mere sentimentalism but a vital dynamic power stronger than force," she continued.

The tendency of the day was to reverence and honor the men of action, the warrior heroes, rather than the men who made their contribution to the good of humanity in less spectacular ways. The hope for peace lay in the realization of a new scale of values, the honor and reverencing of the men who is a friend of all the world and neither desires nor kills. Christ had exemplified love as the greatest power for overcoming evil, not as a pacific sentimentality but as a dynamic force. Religion and war were incompatible, she noted.

WOMEN AND PEACE

Women as the bearers of human life realized the value of the individual and saw the need of extending to wider human relationships the happy harmonious relationships of the home. They realized that humanity must be put first and politics last.

"Hating people does not make them do as you wish. Physical force can coerce men's bodies, but it cannot coerce their souls," she said.

THE "WHY" OF VOLUNTARY MOTHERHOOD

As Margaret Sanger, Birth Control Advocate, Sees It

Healthier mothers, better-cared-for children, and happier marriages are benefits that would accrue from a universal knowledge of birth control, according to Dr. Margaret Sanger.

"The idea of birth control coming to the poverty-stricken mother is the most important factor in her over-worked life. When her babies come to close together in the years of her young motherhood, she is not able to get her full strength.

Dr. Sanger

"She cannot give them the proper care and attention her heart long to give.

"If she has three years at least between the births of children, life will be different for her and her babies. She should be well and strong and normal psychologically — fully recovered from the strain of bearing one child before she has another.

"Finances also should be considered before the family is increased. There should be money enough in the bank to carry them all through any emergency that might occur.

"Increasing the family should be a voluntary thing because the children that arrive that way are wanted children for whom preparation has been made and for whom the family budget and family health provide."

BEAUTY

How and Why

By Anna Alysia

Among all the thousands of faces we have observed during our lifetimes, no two are exactly alike. Nature, in dealing with us humans, scarcely ever repeats herself—she is never montonous. Yet, an intensive study of facial characteristics reveals the fact that while there is unlimited variety, this variety is attained through certain basic forms and manifold combinations of these typal forms.

Give the matter a moment's thought and I fancy you will agree with my placing all faces under one of three great classifications. They are either square, oval or tapering in general type. Of these general facial forms there are many modifications and combinations, and these changes and additions are the reasons for the endless variations that we have spoken of above.

After reading this article, notice the facial forms of friends and acquaintances. You will find such study of great help to you when you are choosing clothes, hats or in the daily task of arranging your hair.

In the articles to follow I will tell you how to apply the results of these observations.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Green Grass

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

When Uncle Wiggily, the Old Tramp Dog and Baby Bunty hurried back to the lemonade stand, after going to see what made the queer noise, as I told you in the story last night, why, the pitcher of sweet lemonade was gone entirely.

"Oh! Oh!" cried Baby Bunty. "Who took it? Who took my nice pitcher of lemonade that I was going to sell to get money to buy a seven-cent doll at the eight and nine cent store? Who took it?"

"I didn't take the lemonade!" barked the Dog.

"Nor did I," said Mr. Longears.

Then up spoke Tommie Kat, for he it was who had made the noise which caused the others to run to look, thus leaving the lemonade all by itself so any one could take it. Tommie looked in the soft ground around the stand.

"Oh, daddicums, come home quick!"

"I know who took your lemonade."

"Who?" asked Bunty.

"A little pig," answered Tommie. "I can see his feet marks in the soft ground. But I don't know whether Curly, Floppy or Squeakie Squealer took the lemonade."

"We'll soon find out," said Uncle Wiggily. "Come on!" he called to the Tramp Dog and Bunty. They followed the marks of the runaway little pig's feet until they led to some bushes and trees. And there, hiding in front of a little house, was Floppy. He was sitting still. If you turned last night's puzzle picture upside down you easily saw Floppy. And he had hidden the pitcher in the roots of the tree where I hope you found it.

"Oh, Floppy!" exclaimed Bunty sorrowfully, "did you take my lemonade that I was going to sell to get money to buy a doll? Did you?"

"I—I—now—guess I did!" squealed Floppy, coming out from where he was hidden, like a puzzle. "I spilled some lemonade and I drank the rest. But I'll help you make more, Bunty, and sell it to get money."

"Oh, that will be nice," said Bunty.

So she and the little piggie boy set up another lemonade stand, after Uncle Wiggily had given Bunty money to buy more lemons and then the rabbit gentleman was going to hop along and have an adventure with the Tramp Dog when, all of a sudden, Scramble, one of the little rabbit boys came hopping fast up to his dadicums and said:

WHAT DOES THIS SAY?

"Oh, Dadicums, hurry home, quick!"

"Why, what's the matter?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow are playing tag all over your nice, new green grass and they'll dig it all up!" said Scramble.

"Dear me!" exclaimed Mr. Longears to the Tramp Dog. "This is too bad! For a month I've been trying to make my lawn nice and green, but something always happens to it. If it isn't the dogs playing tag it is my own forty leven little rabbits digging holes. I guess I'll never raise any nice, green grass on my lawn!"

"Wait a minute!" barked the Tramp Dog as Uncle Wiggily was hopping away. "I'll go with you and put up some signs on your lawn that will keep puppy dogs and pussy cats off for good."

"Please do," begged the rabbit. So the Tramp Dog made four little signs, painting only one letter on each. They did not say "PLEASE KEEP OFF THE GRASS" as do most signs. No, these signs were rather mysterious.

"What do those signs say?" whispered Jackie as he and Peetie stopped playing tag on the new lawn.

"Ah, that is a puzzle for you to guess!" laughed the Tramp Dog. And the puppies were so surprised that they didn't tear up the grass any more. So now see if you can guess what the signs say. And if the pencil doesn't get late for school when it stops to make a mark on the sidewalk, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Lulu's lollypop.

LABOR WOMEN OF BRITAIN TO MEET

Will Consider Effect of Closing Down of Collieries

London, May 15.—Dr. Marion Phillips, chief woman official of the Labor Party in Great Britain, estimates the present women membership of the party at between 225,000 and 300,000. She will present a report to the national conference of labor women which will open at Portsmouth on Wednesday and continue on Thursday, a feature of her report being the damaging effect of the closing down of colliery pits in small villages.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THE TERMS BANDS AND BINDERS CAUSE CONFUSION

Mrs. W. T. writes—"I read your articles with the greatest interest and am filing them for future reference. Several mothers-to-be meet weekly and have a trained nurse talk to them. One of her recent talks was on binders. She advised that they be removed as soon as the navel dressing was taken off. She emphasized that binders actually hinder the action of the stomach muscles so necessary to a baby's digestion. She says a binder used for long months seriously hinders proper bone development especially in a rickety baby and may cause lasting deformity. Do you think this is the cause of the spinal curvature we see so frequently?

"Some mothers keep binders on their babies with the idea that it keeps their stomachs in shape, and continue to use them pinned tightly for many months. They consider they keep the baby's back straight. Would you please write a convincing article on this?"

ANSWER

In answer to the last question, I'll try. It is quite true that the binder holds the navel dressing in place. After that is gone it is useless. It is replaced by a knitted, part-wool band, with shoulder straps and a tab for the diaper and this loose abdomen-warming garment makes a heavy shirt unnecessary, a lighter weight and less wooly garment being quite suitable. It doesn't seem to me that the really well-informed mother ever leaves on the binders longer than six weeks. The mother who makes no effort to find out what is proper or improper in baby care is liable to do almost anything.

Almost any bone deformity is possible because of rickets too, but I do not believe the average healthy baby would be seriously affected by binders except that his digestive organs would be compressed and he would undoubtedly tend to spit up a lot of his food because of this.

Binders are unnecessary and terribly uncomfortable for the growing child. They constrict his stomach and cause spitting up. Other than these things it would be rather sensational to attribute to them such drastic evil results as spinal deformities. We mustn't forget that there are many Italian mothers, and Indian mothers, who bind their babies so tightly one wonders they can breathe, and yet they do grow up quite undeformed. One can disapprove heartily of a thing without calling it entirely a menace. Have I helped?

ANTI-BOOTLEG CAMPAIGN

Winnipeg, May 15. — The war on bootleggers in Manitoba is being intensified and the padlock law inaugurated with the establishment of the cash and carry system and sale of beer in parlors is to be enforced against all offenders with two or more convictions. Yesterday, for the first time, the padlock law was invoked. The owner of a suburban resort was found guilty of a third offence. Last night the place was padlocked by provincial police, and the building will have to remain closed for an indeterminate period, not exceeding a year.

ATEANTIC FLIGHT

New York, May 15.—Bent on being a member of the crew of the transatlantic monoplane Bremen attempts a return journey to Europe, Johannes Vollert, German aviator, is here to-day, having arrived yesterday from Germany on the liner Hamburg. Vollert said he had been offered the place of Arthur Spindler, Bremen mechanic, who quit the flight in Ireland after a dispute with Capt. Herman Koehl, but he had not time to make the journey to Ireland before Major James Fitzmaurice was engaged to replace Spindler. The flier is twenty-eight years old and began his aviation training in the German army in 1917.

"I think it only due to you to tell you what Eagle Brand has done for my nine months old baby who now weighs 23 lbs. Every week after he gained consistently and is a happy, contented baby."

CRICKET TEAMS START SEASON

Wednesday League to Open To-morrow With Two Matches Scheduled

Wednesday League cricket teams will open their season to-morrow afternoon with two games scheduled. The Tillicums, last year's champions, will meet the Five C's at Beacon Hill, while the Hudson's Bay and T. and V. eleven will play at the Jubilee grounds. Both games will get under way at 2.30 o'clock.

Last year the Tillicums carried off the league championship and they will field practically the same club to-morrow that annexed the honors. The Hudson's Bay, runners-up last season, have strengthened up this year and hope to be right in the running all the way.

The managers of the Five C's and T. and V's have some good material to add to their clubs, so a keenly contested league is looked for.

Softball Teams Will Open Their Season To-night

Softball teams in the Victoria and District Softball League will open their season to-night when the Foresters and Cameron Lumber Company teams meet at the Central Park. The game will start at 6.30 o'clock with E. Stock and T. Forbes umpiring.

Other games scheduled this week are as follows:

Thursday—"C" Section: Royals vs. Y.M.C.A., at Central Park, upper diamond; Hudson's Bay vs. 16th Canadian Scottish, at Central Park, lower diamond; Young Men's Institute vs. Wilson Bros., at Central Park, near Queen's Avenue and Quadra Street.

All games start at 6.30 o'clock.

Track and Field Team Hold First Trials To-night

The Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club will hold their first outdoor workout of the season to-night at 7.30 o'clock at the Royal Athletic Park. The athletes have been practising faithfully in the "Y" gymnasium for the past two weeks, and will probably have a good team representing them at Nanaimo on May 24.

The following athletes are asked to be on hand as well as any others interested: C. Finnemore, C. Copeland, G. Davis, J. Moyes, P. Turgoose, C. Connorton, B. Gilson, Bill Oliver, W. Peden, E. Peden, N. Allen, F. G. Skillings, J. Clarke, C. Cunning, H. Plowman and E. Harwood.

Canada's Material For Olympic Games Reviewed in Series

Following up its policy of featuring Canadian activities wherever possible, The Times has secured the local rights for a series on Canadian athletes who will contest for places on the team which will be sent from this country to the Olympic Games in Amsterdam.

The series is written by Bobby Robinson, at present city editor of The Hamilton Spectator. He has spent twenty-three years in newspaper work and the most of that time he was a sports writer. In addition to his long experience as a writer he also has been actively identified with Canadian sport for a long period. He is at present chairman of the track and field committee of the Canadian Olympic committee, chairman of the marathon committee of the Canadian Olympic committee, delegate to the International Athletic Federation meeting in Amsterdam, president of the Hamilton Olympic Club, and a member of the Ontario Athletic Commission. He will accompany the Canadian Olympic team to Holland as one of the managers.

Articles by Mr. Robinson will appear weekly in The Times, the first of which appears to-night.

This makes the second All-Canadian sports feature which The Times has secured. The other by Jimmy Thompson, appearing three times each week, has proved exceptionally popular with readers of this paper.

GYROS LISTEN TO LES PATRICK

Manager of New York Rangers Reviews Happenings of Recent Months

After the members of the Gyro Club had risen in a body and greeted him with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, world's hockey champions, told of some of the highlights of his life during the last nine months at the meeting yesterday. The Gyros, always interested in the activities of Lester, listened with rapt attention to his talk.

Lester took the Gyros to the Tunney-Dempsey fight in Chicago last September, and said he did not hear anything about the "long count" until next morning. Everything seemed allright to him at the ring.

Lester arrived in New York in time to see the world's baseball series, and he thought the Yankees were a real ball club, while the Pittsburgh Pirates were only mediocre. He calls on the Yankees to repeat this year, unless they have pitching trouble. "They have a super-star in every position," he said.

EATING WITH NOTABLES

Lester told of some of the banquets he had attended during the past Winter in New York, including the one given by the "600 millionaires" who form the Madison Square Garden Corporation. They entertained all the sports celebrities in the United States, including Gene Tunney, Babe Ruth, Bill Tilden, Johnny Weismuller, Spencer and Bill Cook. Tickets for the banquet retailed at $25 each.

Another banquet he was the guest at was tendered by the Associated Baseball Writers of America.

Lester gave his opinions of the various heavyweight fighters in the recent eliminations. He admires the physique of Jack Delaney and Jack Sharkey.

RIGHT THROUGH BROADWAY

The freedom of New York was extended to the Rangers after they won the world's hockey championship in Montreal, and Lester says he got a great kick out of the right-of-way which was given the motor cars in which the team traveled. The players went from Madison Square Garden to the city hall, a distance of three miles, with a motorcycle escort and everything, and even Broadway had to make way for them.

"It was great driving along there with everybody hustling to get out of our way," said Lester.

WESTMINSTER SINGERS

Harry Dawson, who is managing the appearance of the Westminster Glee Singers here on June 1 and 2, under the auspices of the Gyro Club, reported that there was exceptional interest in the visit of the singers, and that great houses were expected.

Harold Beall, formerly physical instructor at the Y.M.C.A. here, attended the luncheon. He has spent the last fourteen years in India.

Pigeon Racing

The Oaklands and District Boys' Racing Pigeon Club held its third race from Nanaimo on Saturday, a distance of seventy-three miles. Twenty-two birds competed.

The winning bird, White Tip, owned by R. Williams, 3050 Delatre Street, covered the distance in one hour and forty minutes, winning W. Simpson's special prize.

The other results were:

min.

Third—C. Jordan's Tar Paper, 1 hr. 42 min.

Six members competed.

C. Rowe is leading for the average with R. Williams a close second.

The next race will be held from Parksville, a distance of ninety-six miles, on Saturday.

J.B.A.A. Meeting

To-night at 8 o'clock a general meeting of the J.B.A.A. will be held at the new Gorge clubhouse. All members and anyone interested are invited to attend.

TWO CANADIAN SPRINT KINGS LEAD THE PACK

CYRIL COAFFEE — JOHNNY FITZPATRICK

By BOBBY ROBINSON

Chairman of the Track and Field Committee of the Canadian Olympic Committee

"The next sprint champion of Canada will be Johnny Fitzpatrick."

This statement was made to the writer by Cyril Coaffee, who has been the king of Canadian sprinters for many years, succeeding to the mantle formerly held by Bobby Kerr, of Hamilton, 200-metre winner at the Olympic games of 1908.

Coaffee's verdict was delivered after Fitzpatrick had defeated the former Winnipeg boy in a 220-yard race last Summer, although earlier in the day Coaffee nosed home in front of Fitzpatrick at 100 yards, as depicted in the photo of the finish of the race reproduced above.

Fitzpatrick, when he met Coaffee for the first time, had just concluded a very strenuous season on the cinder tracks of Canada and the United States—a season which gained for him the title of schoolboy champion of America. He had gained the national high school title at Milwaukee in April which he won the 100 in 9 9-10 seconds; had carried off the 100 and 200-yard events at the interscholastic championships of America at Philadelphia a week later, being clocked in 9 9-10 seconds for the dash and in 21 4-5 seconds in the furlong.

It was only recently that Lawson Robertson, head coach of the American Olympic team, predicted that the Canadians would have to be considered in the Olympic games this year. "New prospects and the improvement shown by the Canadian veterans during the past four years should make them a much more formidable crowd," he said. "In Johnny Fitzpatrick they have one of the best short distance prospects in the world to-day. He possesses everything a great sprinter needs and, unless I'm badly mistaken, he should give them all a good run by next Summer. Only recently I saw this boy give a wonderful indoor exhibition in Madison Square Garden. He fell only one-fifth of a second short of equaling the world's record for 50 yards indoors. He looks more like Paddock than any schoolboy I have seen."

The question as to whether Coaffee will be considered this year by the Olympic selection committee has been settled. Recently the Canadian committee decided to bar all Canadians who have resided in the United States for more than five years, but the decision was not unanimous and has since been changed so that he will be available for the team. Coaffee has held sway for a long time and proved last season, beyond question, that he had lost little, if any, of his speed, especially at 100 yards. Certainly, he and Fitzpatrick stand out as the two leading sprinters of the day, with such rare prospects as Miller, of Halifax; McKecheneay, of Montreal; Adams, of Hamilton; Brown, of Edmonton; Williams, of Vancouver, Hester, of Detroit; Cohen, of Winnipeg, and others, forming a dangerous background.

Canada was never so rich in sprinting material. At least four will be selected for the Olympic team, as there is a 400-metre relay race on the programme. Possibly five will be taken. In any event, five selected from the above would certainly possess more strength than the sprint relay team of 1924, which consisted of Coaffee, Hester, Armstrong and Vince. A team consisting of Coaffee, Fitzpatrick, McKecheneay and either Miller, Williams or Adams, could spot the 1924 relay team several metres and beat them in 400.

Miss Helen Dawson Wins Macaulay Point Golf Championship

Miss Helen Dawson retained her title as women's champion of the Macaulay Point Golf Club by defeating her sister, Florence, 5 and 4 in the finals.

The championship this year attracted one of the largest entry lists on record and there was plenty of interesting play before the title was finally decided.

Miss Helen Dawson won the title for the first time last year and this year she captured the medal honors in the qualifying round, showing that she was right out to retain her honors. In the various rounds to the finals the defending champion played good golf. Miss Florence Dawson also showed good form in playing through to the finals but she found her sister a little too strong when it came to the deciding match.

Two Ladies Tie For Golf Honors

Mrs. Philbrick with 96, 5 and 91, and Mrs. Parry with 101, 10 and 91, were tied for first place in Class "A" in the "iron-club" competition staged at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday. Mrs. Pangman won the honors in Class "B" with 126, 33 and 93.

Chicago, May 15. — The Norwegian heavyweight threat Otto von Porat, expects to meet the most severe test of his American invasion when he trades punches with Napoleon Jack Droval of Emporia, Pa., in a ten-round bout to-night. Von Porat is a slight favorite.

BLISTERED BUNIONERS BOUNCE BY

"It Won't Be Long Now," Says One Runner as He Starts Hoofing To-day

Ashtabula, Ohio, May 15.—C. C. Plye's blistered bunioners hit the pavement from here to-day for Erie, Pa., forty-five miles eastward, and another day nearer New York, the final terminus of the longest trek ever attempted by a group of athletes.

"It won't be long now," said one of the runners as he started out to-day.

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., who has covered the 2,845.1 miles from Los Angeles in 469.39.15, to hold first place in the field of fifty-five, blazed the trail from Arrowhead yesterday, with John Salo, Passaic, N.J., who holds second place, 21 hours, 49 minutes and 27 seconds behind him. Both covered the 41.1 miles in 5.50.48, 37 minutes, 21 seconds ahead of Phil Granville, Hamilton, Ont., and Louis Perella, Albany, N.Y., who tied for third place.

MOVES UP ONE PLACE

Perella moved from sixth to fifth place to displace his countryman, Guisto Umek, of Italy.

FIELDING TO MEET DAVIES

Newly Crowned Island Junior Lightweight Champ to Tackle Hard-hitting Mainlander

Great interest is being taken in Tommy Fielding since his victory Saturday night over Dave Lewis at Duncan, when he captured the junior heavy lightweight championship of Vancouver Island, and no doubt there will be a large crowd on hand Saturday night when he meets Bud Davies of Vancouver in a ten-round bout which is being staged by Promoter Joe Bayley at the Tillicum gymnasium.

Bayley returned this morning from Vancouver, where he signed Davies.

Davies, who is one of the most promising fighters in Vancouver, is only a youngster, but he has come to the front with a rush. Of the boring in type he has proved very popular with mainland fight fans.

Promoter Bayley has also signed Jackie Knott of Vancouver to meet Tim Keist in the semi-windup. Knott is claimed to be a top-notcher, but he will have his hands full in meeting Keist, who is a hard hitter and a crafty fighter.

Several other good bouts will also be carded.

Walker to Start Training Session

Chicago, May 15.—Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, began inspecting prospective spots here yesterday for an outdoor training camp in which the world's middleweight champion will prepare for his title match with Ace Hudkins June 21.

Walker will arrive May 29 to begin the three weeks' stretch. Meantime he will box Joe Simonich at Elizabeth, N.J., May 21, and Tony Marillo at Cleveland May 28. Both bouts will be over the weight.

Cubs, Docile For Month, Now Smash Rival Clubs And Are Game From Lead

Take Third Straight Game From New York Giants, Which Makes Their Ninth Win in a Row and Puts Them Right on Heels of Cincinnati; Yankees Boost Their Average Above .800 and Seem to Have Running All to Themselves; Grove Whiffs Eleven as Athletics Win

Joe McCarthy's Cubs, unwontedly docile for the first month of the National League season, must have gotten hold of some raw meat somewhere. Down in the depths of the second division two weeks ago, the Cubs suddenly came to life and to-day were resting in second place, only a game back of the league-leading Cincinnati Reds.

An 8-2 victory over the Giants at Chicago yesterday stretched the Cubs' string of victories to nine straight, the last three over New York, which came west leading the league and now repose in fourth place. While the Cubs were pounding Fitzsimmons and Walker for ten hits, Charlie Root was holding the Giants down to six hits. Root, who started the season in bad form, now has won his last three games. After seeing the club lose, John McGraw, manager of the Giants, suffered a slight injury of the leg when he was struck by an automobile.

LUQUE HELD PHILLIES OFF

The Reds retained their hold on the lead by beating the Phillies at Cincinnati 8 to 4, the game marking the Quakers' tenth straight defeat. Luque was touched for four runs in the first inning, but after that was unbeatable.

Rallies in the last three innings gave the Cardinals a four to three victory over Boston at St. Louis. Hafey's fourth hit of the game scored the winning run in the ninth after the tieing run had been sent over a moment earlier. Moore and Douthit hit homers.

Thirty-five players struggled through two and a half hours of weird baseball at Forbes Field before Brooklyn won 7-6 from Pittsburgh.

Their third victory in a row over the Detroit Tigers, 7-5, sent the average of the New York Yankees, American League leaders, up to the .800 mark. Babe Ruth hit his ninth homer of the year in the seventh inning, and now is four games ahead of his record-breaking pace of last year. Pipgras was wild and hit hard, but sensational fielding by the champions pulled him through to his sixth straight victory.

GROVE STRIKES OUT ELEVEN

Lefty Grove, crack southpaw of the Athletics, struck out eleven men as the Athletics beat Cleveland 6-3 in ten innings. The winning margin was provided by Jimmy Fox's pinch-homer with two on base. Grove held the Indians to three single up to the eighth, but was nailed for five hits and three runs in that inning.

Ed Morris, the big right-hander from Mobile, registered his third straight victory as the Boston Red Sox beat the St. Louis Browns 3-2.

Gaston pitched the Washington Senators to a 4-2 victory over the White Sox.

SONS GO INTO LEAGUE LEAD

Defeat Old-timers 9-1 For Second Win; Bill Holman Poles Out Circuit Clout

Sons of Canada took the lead in the Senior Amateur Baseball League last night when they defeated the Old-timers 9-1 at the Royal Athletic Park. The Sons have played two games and won both of them.

Bill Holman, hard hitting centre fielder of the Sons, added a little interest to a slow game, when he clouted the pill over the centre field fence in the sixth inning with one man on bases. Bill carried off the home run honors last season.

The Sons got to McDonald, on the mound for the Old-timers, in the first inning, scoring two runs. In the third frame the veterans scored their lone run. Rutledge singled, went to third on Givens's double and scored on D'Arcy's error. From this stage on the Sons held the whip hand, adding one run in the third, fourth and fifth innings.

In the sixth the Natives went on a batting spree and four runners crossed the plate, two being scored on Holman's homer.

Roy Copas, manager of the Sons, pitched a good game for them. He was touched up for six hits, but kept them well scattered. The Sons collected eleven hits off McDonald.

Duncan Defeat Chemainus In Island League

Duncan, May 14.—Playing their first game at home in the Vancouver Island Baseball League Duncan hung up an 8-5 victory over Chemainus Sunday afternoon before a large crowd of fans.

McKinney pitched a good game for the home club, striking out eight and allowing seven hits. Robinson on the mound for Chemainus struck out eight, while he was nicked for six hits.

Duncan scored all their runs in two innings, four in the first and a like number in the seventh.

Chemainus started a rally in the ninth but were only able to score two runs.

Odds Swing In Favor Of Mandell As Fans Line Up With Critics

McLarnin Now on Short End of Betting at 7-5; Experts Point Out Mandell's Greater Speed and Ring Generalship Should Keep Him Away From McLarnin's Right Hand, Which Is Real Dynamite; Both Boys in Fine Shape for the Fight Thursday

New York, May 15.—Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin have ended active training for their fifteen-round lightweight championship bout at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

The "Rockford Sheik" and his Vancouver, B.C., challenger put in strenuous sessions yesterday and then laid aside the gloves until they climb through the ropes at the baseball park on Thursday. Mandell plans to come down from his training camp at Orangeburg, N.Y., in time for the weighing-in Thursday afternoon.

MANDELL FAVORITE

McLarnin's pilgrimage to New York will be from Pompton Lakes, N.J., where he has been preparing for his chance at the title, won in other times by such fighters as Benny Leonard, Joe Gans, Battling Nelson and Ad Wolgast.

Mandell is now a 7-5 favorite here to retain his title, reflecting the sentiment of the experts who believe the champion is too fast and too clever to be caught by the Vancouver boxer's powerful rights which flattened Sid Terris in a single round.

Marking as it does the first lightweight title fight here since Benny Leonard beat Lew Tendler in 1923, the bout appears certain to draw a crowd of 60,000 or more. Some 70,000 tickets have been printed.

McLARNIN ATTRACTION

McLarnin's right arm, containing the dynamite that knocked out a number of the best lightweights of the day, should prove a high-powered box office attraction.

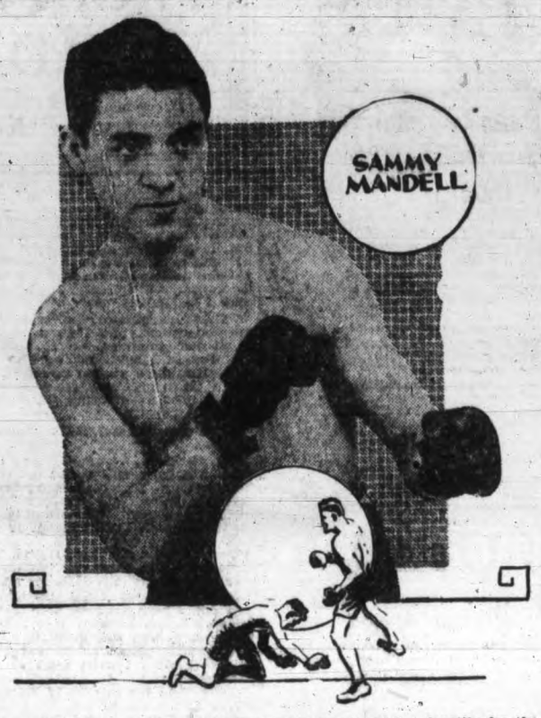
The bout will give Tex Rickard a chance to put one of his theories into practice. Believing that it is absurd to ask lightweights to perform in a ring similar to that which middleweights and the other heavier divisions use, Rickard intends to lower the ropes to conform with the size of the titular principals.

CONCENTRATES ON SPEED

Speed and more speed was the dominant characteristic of Mandell's long workout yesterday. Mandell apparently will base his entire plan of battle on his boxing skill and speedy footwork. He has placed his reliance on these against sluggers before, and they have carried him through to victory in nearly every instance. To-day and to-morrow the champion plans only enough work to keep his muscles limber.

McLarnin is confident that, fast as Mandell is, he will not succeed in keeping his chin guarded from McLarnin's deadly right for all of the fifteen scheduled rounds.

REIGNS AS FAVORITE FOR FIGHT



For a time Jimmy McLarnin, of Vancouver, was a red-hot favorite for the light heavyweight championship in New York on Thursday night, but the odds have been gradually switching until to-day Mandell, the champion, is backed at 7-5 to win. Mandell is a greatly under-rated champion but McLarnin has the color, which appeals to the public, and he has taken hold of the New York fancy like another Lindbergh.

FISHERMEN FAIL TO WREST TITLE

Brentwood, May 15.—All efforts to wrest the fishing crown from G. J. Jackson, of Victoria, failed here during the week-end. Fishing generally was reported as poor and that is given as the reason why Mr. Jackson's record of one twenty-seven-pounder and seven other average ones, was not broken.

"No matter what happens, I'm going to stick to it until I get one that runs at least twenty-eight pounds, so that I'll at least equal Mr. Jackson's largest, although I might not be able to wrest the crown from him," said Stan Gill.

Mr. Gill had no luck at all this week-end, but last week-end he came within a fish of winning the title.

Henry Dalby, who until the present title-holder took it away from him was known as the champion, and has been honored personally by both the Prince of Wales and Lord Willingdon for his fishing prowess, is out to regain his championship, but during the last two weeks had not been able to do anything to imperil Mr. Jackson's standing.

Ross Crane, fishing with Aubrey Wells late Sunday afternoon, got a heavy grilse on his line, but the fish got away. After that they did not get a bite.

Ralph Mackie and Miss Graham thought they had something that would make Mr. Jackson's twenty-seven pounder look like a smelt, but when they pulled in their line they found a grinning dogfish. They could not get rid of him fast enough.

C. F. Moriarty and A. T. Broderick experimented with several kinds of spoons during the afternoon and evening, but did not get a bite.

The ladies of the club attended to the decorations of the supper room, which were greatly admired. Pitts' four-piece orchestra played the latest dance music. Dancing was kept up until daylight. During the evening a confetti and serpentine battle took place when the decorations provided added ammunition. The visitors expressed their appreciation of the many good times the club had given them during the basketball season and pledged their support to the club for the future.

The Shawnigan Dramatic Club, under the leadership of Eric Walker, will stage a concert and play in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Saturday, May 19. A play entitled, "Punkin Ridge," will be provided, also several solos and comic stunts. A dance will follow the entertainment.

ARISTOCRATS OF DOG WORLD TO BE SEEN IN SHOW HERE

The champion's bench, on which none but the best of the dog world may appear, will be a feature of the Victoria City Kennel Club's show at the Armories, Bay Street, on May 18 and 19. This is the first time that an attempt has been made here to bring the distinguished members of the dog world together in one class and on one bench, the secretary of the club announced.

It is to be an all-breed class, and it is hoped that many varieties will be exhibited, thus giving each dog-lover an opportunity to see an outstanding representative of his favorite breed, whatever it may be.

Of all the breeds which will have a place on the champions' bench none will have a worthier representative than the English setters. Their standard-bearer on this occasion is to be Peg o' My Heart, than whom there are few finer in the annals of the breed. This beautiful bitch, by Bachelor's Racket, out of Rowland's Sparkling Beauty, is owned by F. Topp-Turner, and it will be a rare treat for settler-fanciers to see this winner again on the bench. Of all the different varieties of dogs the setter comes very near to taking the palm for having both beauty and usefulness developed to the highest degree; perhaps no other breed combines the ornamental and useful to such an extent.

The history of this breed begins a long time ago, when Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, favorite of Queen Elizabeth, is credited with being the first to train setters for work which they perform to-day, and the famous Dr. Caius placed the breed in the same classification as the spaniel. The Spanish pointer is also credited with a share in their excellence.

One of the foremost breeders of modern times was Mr. Steadman, and the bench and field champions which have come from his Mallwyd kennels are famous the world over. Such names as Mallwyd Sarah, Mallwyd Pan and Mallwyd Mumm are ones to conjure with in setter history. The Mallwyd strain was particularly famous for the beautiful heads, the result of much time, study and patience, and this British Columbia champion, Peg o' My Heart, inherits a generous share of this coveted blood, straining back as she does through both sire and dam to dogs and bitches of Mallwyd breeding.

The career of Peg o' My Heart is a most interesting one. Bought from the nest by Mr. Topp-Turner, when it had been almost decided to destroy her as being too small and feeble to keep, his judgment was completely vindicated when in 1920 she was reserve winner at Victoria on two occasions, and winner at Vancouver. In the same year at New Westminster she swept the boards, taking winner, best sporting, best Canadian-bred and best in show. In 1921 she was placed winner at Seattle and at Victoria, in 1922 winner at Victoria, and the same at Nanaimo the following year.

This is a magnificent record, doubly so in view of the fact that the setter is such a popular breed in this part of the country, and for quality and quantity the setter classes easily surpass those for other breeds.

After her bench career was over Mr. Topp-Turner retired her to the stud, where she bred some descendants fitted in every way to follow after her. Her pups have won all over the continent. Perhaps the most famous is Heather Shotover, and the one best-known to Victorians, the beautiful Heather Dawn.

India Eliminates Switzerland From Davis Cup Series

Jasper Golf Tourney Will Open on Sept. 8

The third annual tournament over the Jasper National Park course, Jasper, Alberta, will take place September 8 to 15 inclusive, the chief event being the championship which carries with it custody of the Totem Pole Trophy for a year. This is, probably, the most unique golf trophy competed for on the North American continent, a replica of a western totem pole done in native silver.

The championship offers a fine test for the ambitious amateurs and the two previous contests have produced high class golf, so that a keen field may be expected in this event. Other events include a match against par for the men, inter-province and state match, mixed four ball matches and matches for the ladies.

The golf course at Jasper has been developed year by year, and now stands unequalled in excellence among golf courses in Canada.

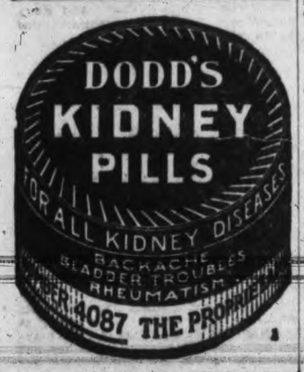
Luncheon will commence at 12.10 o'clock.

PORT ALBERNI STARTS PAVING BUSINESS AREA

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, May 15.—The City Council has embarked upon a policy of hard-surfacing the main highways of this city, the first work to be undertaken being two blocks of Argyle Avenue. This will be laid as a test area and if found satisfactory will be extended next year. The system of surfacing selected by the council is the newly developed asphaltic mulch, with a three-inch surfacing laid on the existing graveled roadway. The new surface will be twenty feet in width.



Everything Counts in Golf

If you are going to remember to keep your head down, your eye on the ball, your stance correct, and your grip the grip the pro. showed you at that last lesson, you can't afford to have anything else to think about. And that's exactly why Williams shave—with Williams Cream and Aqua Velva—makes poor golfers good, and good golfers better.

What has shaving to do with your game?

Plenty!

—and here's how.

Your golf depends on your state of mind. If the shave you had just before you started for the club still sends twitches and throbs across your glowing face, your mind is distracted—you are "face conscious". How can you hope to be on top of your game?

How many strokes a shave the Williams way is worth has yet to be proven. But this is sure — after a Williams shave you can FORGET that you have used a razor.

First you condition your face with Williams Shaving Cream that leaves your face soft and smooth. Aqua Velva keeps it that way—retains the moisture of your skin—a perfect finish to the shave.

Barbers as a body endorse Williams Shaving lather. They have known it for nearly a century. Throughout Canada 85 out of every 100 use it exclusively.

Williams Shaving Cream
The choice of millions. Pure. Unscented. Thick mild lather prepares the skin quickly for an easy shave. Two sizes—35c. tube and 50c. tube.

Aqua Velva
Keeps the skin flexible. Conserves the natural moisture of the skin. A few drops after shaving prevent chapping, heal tiny nicks and cuts. A face stimulant you will enjoy. Large 5 oz. Bottle 60c.

Luxton

Luxton, May 15.—The social evenings in the past arranged by the Metchosin Farmers' Institute have been exceptionally popular events, but on Friday evening, May 18, the Flitch contest will doubtless eclipse all previous efforts.

The origin of presentation of a flitch of bacon goes back into early English history. It is said that a certain body of Monks made it known that they were prepared once each year to present a flitch of bacon to any married couple who could establish that they had lived in harmony for twenty years.

Needless to say the celebration at Luxton Hall will be of a distinctly burlesque type, and great amusement is expected.

Three couples are applying for the flitch. These will be formally examined as to their qualifications by a competent judge and jury. Counsel will present and defend their cases and the flitch has already been prepared.

An orchestra has been arranged for and dancing will conclude the evening. Refreshments will be served. The performance will start at 8.30.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Madders and Miss Alice Madders have gone to Cowichan Lake, and will be away several months.

Miss Elsie Smith spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith.

A good start was made Saturday afternoon towards clearing the property adjacent to Luxton Hall. This is the first "bee" arranged by the Metchosin Farmers' Institute. Details and dates of future "bees" will be announced.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Trace, Jr., "Glendale Cabin," were Mr. and Mrs. D. McCall, of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Zellinsky and sons, of Bamberton. Recent guests at "Glendale Cabin" were Mr. and Mrs. W. Richdale and Mrs. Gossman, of Victoria.

The "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

Author of "The Benson Murder Case"

"He had first called my home on Long Island, and learned that I was staying here. I had never seen him before—didn't know of his existence. But, it seems, he had equipped himself with a knowledge of my identity—probably some of the money I gave to the woman went to him. What a muckheap I had fallen into!

"When he phoned, he mentioned the phonograph, and I knew he had found out something. I met him in the Waldorf lobby, and he told me the truth: there was no doubting his word. When he saw I was convinced, he demanded so enormous a sum that I was staggered."

Spotswoode lit a cigarette with steady fingers.

"Mr. Markham, I am no longer a rich man. The truth is, I am on the verge of bankruptcy. The business my father left me has been in a receiver's hands for nearly a year. The Long Island estate on which I live belongs to my wife.

"Few people know these things, but unfortunately they are true. It would have been utterly impossible for me to raise the amount Skeel demanded, even had I been inclined to play the coward. I did, however, give him a small sum to keep him quiet for a few days, promising him all he asked as soon as I could convert some of my holdings.

"I hoped in the interim to get possession of the record and thus spike his guns. But in that I failed; and so, when he threatened to tell you everything, I agreed to bring the money to his home late last Saturday night.

"I kept the appointment, with the full intention of killing him. I was careful about entering, but he had helped me by explaining when and how I could get in without being seen. Once there, I wasted no time. The first moment he was off his guard I seized him—and gloried in the act. Then, locking the door and taking the key, I walked out of the house quite openly, and returned here to the club.—That's all, I think."

Vance was watching him musingly.

"So when you raised my bet last night," he said, "the amount represented a highly important item in your exchequer."

Spotswoode smiled faintly.

"It represented practically every cent I had in the world."

"Astonishin'! . . . And would you mind if I asked you why you selected the label of Beethoven's Andante for your record?"

"Another miscalculation," the man said wearily. "It occurred to me that if any one should, by any chance, open the phonograph before I could return and destroy the record, he wouldn't be as likely to want to hear the classics as he would a more popular selection."

"And one who detests popular music had to find it! I fear, Mr. Spotswoode, that an unkind fate sat in at your game."

"Yes. . . . If I were religiously inclined, I might talk poppycock about retribution and divine punishment."

"I'd like to ask you about the jewelry," said Markham. "It's not sportsmanlike to do it, and I wouldn't suggest it, except that you've already confessed voluntarily to the main points at issue."

"I shall take no offence at any question you desire to ask, sir," Spotswoode answered. "After I had recovered my letters from the document-box, I turned the rooms upside down to give the impression of a burglary—being careful to use gloves, of course. And I took the woman's jewelry for the same reason.

"Parenthetically, I had paid for most of it. I offered it as a sop to Skeel; and finally I decided to rid myself of it. I wrapped it in one of the club newspapers and threw it in a waste-bin near the Flatiron Building."

"You wrapped it in the Morning Herald," put in Heath. "Did you know that Pop Cleaver reads nothing but the Herald?"

"Sergeant!" Vance's voice was a cutting reprimand. "Certainly Mr. Spotswoode was not aware of that fact—else he would not have selected the Herald."

Spotswoode smiled at Heath with pitying contempt. Then, with an appreciative glance at Vance, he turned back to Markham.

"An hour or so after I had disposed of the jewels I was assailed by the fear that the package might be found and the paper traced. So I bought another Herald and put it on the rack." He paused. "Is that all?"

Markham nodded.

"Thank you—that's all; except that I must now ask you to go with these officers."

"In that case," said Spotswoode quietly, "there's a small favor I have to ask of you, Mr. Markham. Now that the blow has fallen, I wish to write a certain note—to my wife.

"But I want to be alone when I write it. Surely you understand that desire. It will take but a few moments. Your men may stand at the door—I can't very well escape. . . . . The victor can afford to be generous to that extent."

Before Markham had time to reply, Vance stepped forward and touched his arm.

"I trust," he interposed, "that you won't deem it necessary to refuse Mr. Spotswoode's request."

Markham looked at him hesitantly.

"I guess you've pretty well earned the right to dictate, Vance," he acquiesced.

Then he ordered Heath and Snitkin to wait outside in the hall, and he and Vance and I went into the adjoining room. Markham stood, as if on guard, near the door; but Vance, with an ironical smile, sauntered to the window and gazed out into Madison Square.

"My word, Markham!" he declared. "There's something rather colossal about that chap. Y'know, one can't help admiring him. He's so eminently sane and logical."

Markham made no response. The drone of the city's mid-afternoon noises, muffled by the closed windows, seemed to intensify the ominous silence of the little bedchamber where we waited.

Then came a sharp report from the other room.

Markham flung open the door. Heath and Snitkin were already rushing toward Spotswoode's prostrate body, and were bending over it when Markham entered. Immediately he wheeled about and glared at Vance, who now appeared in the doorway.

"He's shot himself!"

"Fancy that," said Vance.

"You—you knew he was going to do that?" Markham spluttered.

"It was rather obvious, don't y' know."

Markham's eyes flashed angrily.

"And you deliberately interceded for him—to give him the opportunity?"

"Tut, tut, my dear fellow!" Vance reproached him. "Pray don't give way to conventional moral indignation. However unethical — theoretically — it may be to take another's life, a man's life is certainly his to do with as he chooses. Suicide is his inalienable right. And under the paternal tyranny of our modern democracy, I'm rather inclined to think it's about the only right he has left, what?"

He glanced at his watch and frowned.

"D' ye know, I've missed my concert, bothering with your beastly affairs," he complained amiably, giving Markham an engaging smile; "and now you're actually scolding me. 'Pon my word, old fellow, you're deuced ungrateful!"

THE END.

ASKED ABOUT CONVERSATION

"Mr. Forke told me quite definitely," Mr. Coldwell said, "that Mr. McMurray had obtained these permits in large numbers, that he had obtained sufficient to pay his election expenses, and Mr. Forke said: 'You know election expenses are large in a city like Winnipeg.'"

Mr. Coldwell again was pressed a few minutes later to repeat Mr. Forke's words. "Mr. Forke told me," Mr. Coldwell said, "that Mr. McMurray had obtained a large number of these permits which had been used in the manner suggested. Mr. Forke suggested they had been sold and that election expenses had been met in that way and that election expenses in the city of Winnipeg are high. That is as nearly as I can remember the effect of Mr. Forke's words."

Mr. McMurray, who was member of the Commons from 1921 till 1925, was Solicitor-General from September 12, 1923, till he ceased to be a member of the House.

NEWSPAPER REPORT READ

At the suggestion of Hon. J. W. Edwards, Conservative, Frontenac-Addington, Ont., extracts from the newspaper report of Alderman Coldwell's remarks were read. The articles quoted the alderman as stating that "a regular traffic had been carried on in Ottawa in immigration permits."

The article stated Alderman Coldwell had said Federal members of Parliament had sold permits.

"The newspaper report of my speech is substantially correct," Alderman Coldwell declared to the commitee.

He had made no "charges," however, he said, and his information had come from the highest authority.

Alderman Coldwell said he was in Ottawa on March 15 last, and had engaged in conversation with Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration. He had previously had a conversation with a man who said he had been down to Ottawa "to get a bunch of permits which meant much for the boys." As he had given this man a letter of introduction to Mr. Forke at an earlier date, Alderman Coldwell wanted to clear up any possibility that any letter he had given would lead to the granting of the permits.

TO STOP MISUSE

In the conversation Mr. Forke, he said, had explained that he had done his best to stop the misuse of special immigration permits. Mr. Forke had given an incident of a defeated member having come to him to ask Mr. Forke to sign a large number of permits. Alderman Coldwell said Mr. Forke had told him his Scotch ire had been aroused at the request. Alderman Coldwell further said Mr. Forke had stated he had asked the defeated candidate what these permits were worth to him. The defeated candidate had replied to Mr. Forke, according to Alderman Coldwell's version of the conversation, that they were worth $100, "to aid election expenses."

Mr. Forke might have mentioned the name of the defeated candidate, but Alderman Coldwell said he had no recollection of the name.

QUESTION OF PROTECTION

Alderman Coldwell referred to another case, but before he had proceeded C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal, asked for the name of party involved.

The witness asked for the same protection as was accorded to members speaking on the floor of Parliament. A heated argument followed among members of the committee as to whether any such privilege should be accorded to Alderman Coldwell. Chairman W. F. Kay, Liberal, Brome, Que., ruled the committee could not give any "special privilege." Mr. Kay further ruled the witness was compelled to answer any question put by the committee as a whole.

"The only objection I have to answering that question is that Mr. Forke says he was only giving me current gossip and suspicions," said Alderman Coldwell.

NAME GIVEN

Chairman Kay ruled the question must be answered and his ruling was sustained by the committee.

"The name mentioned was that of Mr. McMurray of Winnipeg," Alderman Coldwell answered to the question following the ruling.

J. A. Glen, Liberal-Progressive, Marquette, Man., interjected that Mr. McMurray "was not a member of Parliament" at the time of the conversation.

Alderman Coldwell said Mr. Forke had mentioned Mr. McMurray as having applied to the Department of Immigration for permits.

Mr. Cahan questioned Alderman Coldwell on the latter portion of his speech, declaring the alderman knew members of Parliament who had bought and sold permits.

Alderman Coldwell said he had reference to the information given him by Mr. Forke as related.

Mr. Cahan questioned the witness in regard to Alderman Coldwell's statement that he knew mmebers of Parliament who had sold permits for $100.

HIS UNDERSTANDING

"That was the inference and understanding I obtained from the conversation I had with Mr. Forke," replied the witness.

Pressed further, the witness stated Mr. Forke had "clearly intimated" that $100 was the fee at which permits were usually sold. Mr. Forke, according to the witness, had added: "If I wish I could become a millionaire in this department."

Mr. Cahan asked if Mr. Forke had said any member of Parliament or defeated candidate was receiving a fee of $100 each for obtaining permits.

"Mr. Forke certainly indicated to me that Mr. McMurray did receive that amount," replied Mr. Coldwell.

"Was he formerly Solicitor-General," asked Mr. Cahan.

"Yes, he was," replied the witness.

"Was your understanding from Mr. Forke that trafficking in permits was general and that among those trafficking were the two to whom you referred?" asked Dr. Edwards.

"Yes," stated the witness.

Asked by John Miller, Liberal-Progressive, Qu'Appelle, if he could recollect the name of the first party mentioned by Mr. Forke, the witness replied he had the impression the party was from the Maritimes.

"Can you tell us as clearly as you can what Mr. Forke said about Mr. McMurray," asked Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence.

"Mr. Forke told me quite definitely," was the reply, "that Mr. McMurray had obtained these permits in large numbers, that he had obtained sufficient to pay his election expenses, and Mr. Forke added: "And you know election expenses are large in Winnipeg."

Ald. Coldwell said he had not considered the conversation with Mr. Forke as confidential.

"Can you give us any portion of the conversation in which Mr. Forke intimated members of Parliament were getting $100, except the man in the Maritimes?" asked Col. Ralston.

"Other than the two cases, no," replied the witness.

"He did not mention Mr. McMurray was getting $100?" continued Mr. Ralston.

Col. Ralston asked if any alleged statements by Mr. Forke had arisen out of "a personal conversation."

"I would not swear that he did," stated the witness.

Ald. Coldwell thought that impression might be correct.

"I never at any stage said the men concerned were members of Parliament now," the witness replied to a further question.

"And you know nothing whatever in regard to present members of parliament?" asked Col. Ralston.

"No," was the reply.

COLD STORAGE PLANT IS AGAIN REVIVED

FRESH BACKING

In his recent communications with the city industrial officals, Mr. Brown has disclosed every faith in the success of his present negotiations, which are proceeding with fresh backing in the East.

The terms of the by-law offered a city guarantee of the interest only on a $500,000 bond issue to be floated by the cold storage interests, over a period of ten years. Concessions as to water, and fixed taxation were also incorporated in the by-law.

In return for the guarantee of the interest sums accruing in the first ten years, the city would receive any of the profits made by the firm in that period, up to seven per cent, the extent of its guarantee.

Water at a fixed rate of 7.8 cents per 1,000 gallons for twenty years was made a part of the by-law ratified by the electorate.

For the first ten years the property would be assessed at $40,000 and at approximately $95,000 for the next ten years.

In return for the concessions and guarantee of interest, the company would agree to spend $500,000 in the erection and operation of a cold storage warehouse on fully modern lines, and to operate this facility continuously to the better development of the districts surrounding Victoria. The warehouse would handle both land and sea products.

The city guarantee of interest would not exceed $37,500 in any year, and would not be operative in those years in which profits from the venture secured the seven per cent return on the $500,000 investment made by the company.

Also before the council last night was a draft of the tentative agreement between the city and the Bell Piano and Organ Company Limited of Gueph, Ont., which with associates is considering the erection and operation of a large export factory here. The city may be prepared to donate the site of the Dallas Hotel with adjacent land at a nominal price of $250, it is understood.

The piano factory would be placed in operation before the close of the year, at a cost of some $65,000, and would employ between fifty and seventy-five employees, with a high rate of production. Apart from the choice of a site the company is asking no concessions from the city, and would assume taxation on the property immediately after taking it over.

Under the tentative agreement made with the firm, the company would agree to operate the factory here for a period of at least ten years, with a production of 800 pianos yearly, as well as incidental manufacture of other instruments. The draft agreement was read and approved in its initial stages by the council last night.

NEW CONSTABLE FOILS ROBBERS

Man Who Just Joined Vancouver Force Has Gun Battle and Chases Thugs

Vancouver, May 15.—Staging a gun battle with two yeggs whom he disturbed in the office of the Borland Dairy on Sixth Avenue West at 12.30 a.m. to-day, Alexander Paton, one of the recent additions to the Vancouver police force, received the first thrill in his career as a constable and incidentally prevented the cracking of the company's strong box.

Paton, who is not yet in uniform, tried the rear door of the Borland premises and then looked through the office window, to find two men busily employed in the act of knocking the combination dial from the safe. As the officer peered through the glass, one of the yeggs looked up and, seeing the intruder, yelled: "What do yau want?" at the same time covering what he supposed to be a civilian with a heavy calibre revolver.

Stooping low, Paton unlimbered his revolver, then again straightened up, to see the men making off through a door. The constable followed, calling on the pair to stop, and finally firing a shot after the fleeing burglars, one of whom replied, the officer sending two more shots in their direction as they ran.

Outdistancing the constable, the two men made for 8th Avenue, where it is believed they jumped into a waiting automobile and made good their escape.

Their efforts to open the safe at the dairy office were ineffectual owing to the timely appearance of the constable.

Earth Shocks Are Felt at Spokane

Spokane, May 15.—Heavy earthquake shocks were recorded at 2.46 p.m. yesterday on the seismograph of Gonzaga University here, it was reported by A. M. Jung, seismologist. The tremors diminished in intensity and had ceased at 3.45, he said, estimating their distance at approximately 4,500 miles from here.

WORLD TROUBLE THIS MONTH, SPEAKER SAYS

"D. Davidson, author of 'The Great Pyramid; Its Divine Message,' in two recent articles in The National Message and Banner, stresses his belief in the correctness of the inch-month scale and the May 29 date and the revelation of which since the conclusion of the Great War to be a warning of God, of the lifting of the 'Divine restraint' that has kept in check every threatened upheaval of the peace of the world during the antechamber period—1918-1928. The finite human mind baulks at any absolute declaration of certainty," Mr. Davidson says. "Yet as matters stand, it seems like trying to discover an error in a clock that keeps perfect time, to discover where an error can possibly be. I am therefore as confident, as any human mind can be confident of anything, that the inch month scale of the pyramid has been proved to be true, and to contain a true prophecy, and that this prophecy defines the last tribulation as beginning on the night of May 29 or 30 of this year.

"If the average normal man does not realize that the British race is in a period of tribulation during the early days of June of this year," Mr. Davidson says, "then the whole inch month scale of interpretation of the prophetic allegory from great step into the King's Chamber is proved to be erroneous. If the pyramid prophecy has any purpose to serve, that purpose relates to guidance during the last tribulation. If there is any uncertainty in its dating for tribulation beginning, where is the certainty of its guidance?"

SLIDES

The speaker showed many slides that portrayed the passage system of the great pyramid, which he explained marked off the history of the old and new covenant periods, in a chronological line of one inch to a year, until the horizontal plain at the top of the great step was reached, and that an enlarged scale of one inch to a month commenced at that point.

The great epochs of the Bible, such as the flood, the exodus, the first advent, the duration of the Lord's life and ministry and the crucifixion and resurrection were all unmistakably shown hundreds of years before the events took place, he explained.

"As time progressed along the level plane, marking off the time at one inch to a month, the first low passage was reached at midnight between August 4 and 5, 1914, the very time that the British ultimatum to Germany expired, and emerged therefrom on November 11, 1918, which was the date of the armistice," Mr. Richards said.

"Entering the antechamber at this point we have enjoyed comparative peace, crisis after crisis has been encountered at forecasted points, which have confirmed the inch to a month scale, but these crises have all been prevented from developing, and the League of Nations has received the credit, but there was a higher power than the League, which we are all too prone to overlook."

Prof. R. P. Hills, M.A., LL.D., presided.

The Guest at Spaniard's Pass

By ALMA and PAUL ELLERBE

Illustrated by Y. E. SODERBERG

"If I hadn't been quicker than that," he said, "I'd have been dead in my teens" . . .

MOLLY BLAINE, walking through the gloom of the shed that covered the railroad track at Spaniard's Pass, heard three sounds that belonged there and one that didn't. She heard the wild, high shriek the rocks at the top of the pass ripped out of the wind, the distant yelping of coyotes, and the scream of an eagle, and paid not heed at all. And then she heard the whinny of a horse, and she stopped short, her heart pounding.

"Maybe I was mistaken," she thought.

But it came again, far off, but clear, and she stepped out swiftly toward the low, brown building midway the length of the shed, where she lived and did her work, when there was any. She was the station-agent at Spaniard's Pass.

She was also, as it happened, sole inhabitant. And she hadn't a neighbor in twenty miles.

Since the price of silver fell, few things had cleared through that wind-grieved, ice-riven gash, except the semi-weekly trains, and the next big snow would stop those. The sparse mining and farming life that clung, lichen-like to the gaunt slopes of the Divide, when it wanted anything, went down, not up, even when the weather was good. With winter poised just beyond the granite head of Old Squaw Mountain, Molly had no reason to expect a passer-by on the road till spring. She took the ties two to a step.

Inside her little office she locked the doors and windows and got a revolver out of a drawer and thrust it into the inside pocket of her sheepskin jacket.

She was fed up on guns and people who used them. She wanted to go away off somewhere, where nobody owned one, and fear didn't lie over the place like a fog, and marry Ralph Holt and live in peace and quietness.

There was neither quietness nor peace in Sutton Springs, the next station down on the railroad—but still some ten thousand feet above the sea—where she and Ralph both lived. She wanted to go away from it and stay there.

Ralph had left his office in the Sutton Springs National Bank Building and his little house on Tungsten St. and gone already to Buena Monte, the county town, fifty miles away, to run for county attorney.

"There's no law here to practise," he said as he left. "And there's not going to be, until somebody defeats Tully Madison. As long as he's county attorney, he'll let Matt Farr go on picking juries that will free the prisoner when Matt blows his nose and convict him when Matt smoothes his hair. It's always been bad enough, but now—well, the decent-minded ones of us have either got to bring some law in or get out ourselves, and I like it here."

"So do I," said Molly, with a sinking heart, "—when it's habitable." And, being that kind of a girl, took the sinecure at Spaniard's Pass, to earn a little money, to study law herself, so that she could help Ralph, and to get away from Matthew Farr.

Through the little barred window that gave upon the waiting-room, she saw the outer door open and a man come in.

"Matt Farr!" she said. "Gee, but I'm glad it's only you!"

But she wasn't. She would rather it had been anybody else on earth.

She unlocked the office door and held out her hand. "Come in, and I'll get you some lunch before you start down again. Where are you headed?"

They shook hands, and Farr laid his hat on the table beside the telegraph-key and smiled all the cruel little lines away from the corners of his mouth. You could have liked him when he smiled, and he was always doing it. Between smiles he had killed three men that Molly knew about and planned the death of nobody knew how many more.

"I'm headed here," he said, seating himself. "There's no use beating around the bush, Molly: I've come to marry you."

Marriage All Arranged

MOLLY laughed a laugh without a tremor in it, while cold fear uncurled inside of her like a lazy snail.

"Just like that?" she said.

Farr nodded slowly, deepening his smile. "Just like that. I've asked you three times and got a no. And now I've ridden thirty miles in the face of a wind that would give a walrus the pneumonia, to get a yes. Say it, Molly! I'll be good to you. I—I'm dead gone on you, girl!"

Molly came over and stood in front of him and looked down steadily into his large brown eyes. There was something gentle in them, as there often is in the eyes of a genuine killer. And a kind of charm lay over the man that was as definite as the color of his hair. Nobody knew how many women had fallen for Matt, but there had been a lot of them. But he had never married. Molly realized that his proposal was a great honor. But the strongest feeling that she had was that blend of fear and loathing that waved back and forth inside of her and made her a little sick.

"Listen, Matt. I'm not going to marry you, now or ever, because I don't care about you. I told you that before, and you knew I meant it. You knew I wasn't going to change, and you oughtn't to have come up here like this. Now I'll fix you some lunch, and then you'll have to go down again."

It was an important snow; they both knew that. Coming as it did on top of several others, if it held on long enough, it was going to say the final word for nobody knew how many days to traffic on both rail and wagon road. But—

"You know as well as I do," Molly said, "that you've got a good two hours before the road gets bad. By that time, you're going to be half-way down."

Matt Farr settled himself back in his chair and took a pipe from his pocket. He was reaching for a match when Molly struck one for him. "Thanks," he said.

She held the little flag of flame in a hand as steady as the lamp-bracket on the wall. He noticed that and liked it and smiled. He pulled until the smoke came to suit him.

"I'm not going at all," he said slowly. "D'you see, Molly?"

There was a long pause, while the wind screamed like a great beast in pain, and the little hard flakes scratched busily at the sides of the house, filling the tracks below the shed, filling the wagon-road, filling the pass.

Farr took his pipe out of his mouth. "Reverend Green's at the other end of the telephone there, with the license and witnesses who know our voices, and everything. It'll be perfectly regular." He looked around him contentedly. "And this is a real nice place to spend our honeymoon. We'll get to know each other." His voice grew earnest and a little plaintive. "You never have really known me," he concluded wistfully.

"You'd get a wife like that?" she said, feeling the precious moments slipping through her fingers. "You'd be willing to sta . out by making her hate you?"

"I never got anything in my life," he said slowly, "except the things I took. Nobody's ever given me anything. And now"— tinge of somberness came into his face—"nobody ever will. Unless it's a grave. Some of the boys have promised me a grave free. Why shouldn't I take you for my wife since I want you? You wouldn't hate me long. You couldn't. I'd be too good to you. You—you don't know anything about my good points, you know."

"Yes, I do," she said, cool and quiet, with her heart bobbing about somewhere just behind her teeth, wondering where she'd shoot him, if she had to. "There's something about you that I like. There's a man buried down in you that a woman like me could have married, if— Well, never mind. I'm sorry for that man. He's never had his chance."

Giving Him the Gun

SHE came over and laid her hand gently on his shoulder. "And he's going to take you on down the road and leave me here alone."

Farr stared up at her, tides of feeling playing against each other in his eyes; but the issue was never in doubt. "He might have—once," he said. "But not now." He shook his head slowly. "No, not now. Now I'm going to have you. Think it over. And, while you're thinking, give me that gun you've got. It will be safer for both of us." He held out his hand.

She gave him the gun bullet first. It seemed to be her feelings that exploded into the roar that filled the little room. She was used to guns, and she drew like lightning and fired in the draw.

But the bullet struck the stovepipe and ricocheted into a framed picture of the president of the railroad, bringing down a shower of glass, and the revolver went spinning off along the floor. She never knew how he struck it from her hand.

"If I hadn't been quicker than that," he said, "I'd have been dead in my teens," and picked up the gun.

Swinging it from his finger by the trigger-guard, he sat down leisurely in his chair again, and every swing the revolver made seemed to tighten something about Molly's heart, until she could scarcely breathe.

He regarded her with his head acock. "Are you glad or sorry you didn't kill me?" he said curiously. "Where'd you be now, if you had—snowed in up here with a dead man?"

But Molly had no more words for him. A certain relationship had existed, in spite of the thick of the world between them, but now it was gone. In her corduroy trousers, boots, and orange-colored flannel shirt, she stood against the wall, straight and tall and fair, with a springing quality in her like a blade of wheat, and a baffling, dangerous glitter in her eyes.

"I know what you're thinking," he said, when she didn't answer him. "You're afraid to say it because you think it will make me mad. But it won't. Nothing makes me mad. I never shot in anger in my life. That's why I've got this county"—he put his thumb there and smiled—"in my vest pocket. You're thinking you could have rolled me down the mountainside to the coyotes and forgotten it. But you couldn't, my girl. You're a spunky piece and the best looker that ever came over the divide, but there's only a few of us have got the nerve for that sort of thing. It's no wonder we rule the others! After you get used to the idea"—slowly and with a twinkle in his eye—"you'll find that it's not bad, in this particular neck of the woods, being Mrs. Matthew Farr."

Molly shuddered uncontrollably. There seemed no reason not to say it. "I'd rather be burned alive!" she said.

But Farr only smiled again. "That's because you don't know me yet."

He came forward, holding out his arms.

"Wait! I—I'm feeling a little faint from lack of food and—and excitement. Will you let me fix lunch first?"

Her bosom heaved and fell on the storm inside; that hard, brilliant glitter played over her eyes, and the color flamed in her face.

Matt lowered his arms. "By gad," he said, "you're beautiful! I'll let you do anything you like, if you'll only love me a little.

"At any rate, I—I'll feed you," she said, and went through the back door of the office into the kitchen and struck a match.

Matt Farr turned up the wick of the oil-stove for her and sliced the bacon.

He looked keenly about the room—a lean-to affair, thrust out on struts over the mountainside—and seemed satisfied. The only door led back into the office. The only window overlooked a snow-covered declivity that might have appalled a bighorn.

"Take your time," he said. "There's lots of it," and went into the other room.

The pleasant smells of bacon and coffee came in; the burning pinon-logs made a purring in the stove; the wind screamed, high over and apart from it all, and he could hear his horse in the winter-tight shed outside. He tipped his chair to its hind legs and smiled a little secret smile and lay back luxuriously in his thoughts.

MOLLY'S footsteps sounded in the kitchen . . . the scrape of a spoon . . . the thump of plates . . . the clink of cup on saucer.

He opened his mouth to yawn, when a breath of coldness stealing across the room brought the chair down with a crash and sent him with one spring into the doorway.

The coffee chuckled in the pot and the bacon sizzled in the skillet, but the window stood wide to the swirling snow, and somewhere, very far down and just vanishing, Molly Blaine was a bobbing dot.

Matt Farr had seen a keg of spikes go down there once. He turned away.

Far down the mountainside, a hungry coyote saw something dark upon the snow and veered to get the wind of it; with ears laid back, he thrust up his head into the thin, spiky-flaked wind and caught a smell he feared and ran away, but came back again, as lightly balanced as a dandelion-seed; swung circumspectly closer; broke off his trot and crept, as silently as sunrise; extended a delicately tentative paw and touched a brown fur cap, and left that place in a streak of frightened speed. For the dark spot had begun to assemble itself.

This was the more difficult, because eight-foot strips of wood were bound to the feet and tangled among the arms and legs of that huddled heap that had catapulted shoulder first into the snowbank and arms and legs were very stiff and sore. But they worked, and slowly and painfully the heap erected itself into Molly Blaine, on skis.

"If they hadn't been there," she muttered thickly, "in that cupboard, where he couldn't see me get them out . . .!"

She stared up the dim immensity of the mountainside, swaying dizzily, trying to pick out the way she had come. But the mountain swayed with her, came forward and curled over her, and she shut her eyes.

But, after a while, she steadied a little, thrust forth one ski and then the other, and then the first again—pushed out painfully into a white blur that somewhere held the town of Sutton Springs.

She reached it, after three hours of push-push-pushing, mostly by instinct, through nebulous white-swirling nothingness, came to a house she knew and fell up against the back door, just as old Chuck Sutton and his wife were sitting down to supper.

Lights — warmth — food — voices — a great soft chair that swallowed her like a cloud; all run together into one sensation! A terrific summoning and pouring out of the dregs of her energies into some sort of explanation, while the faces of Sutton, square-hewn, grizzle-thatched, and grim, and Mrs. Sutton, round and homely and dependable, and the slightly wizened young-old face of Henry Pennock, floated before her like the faces of bodiless cherubs. And then, sleep—black, negative, complete; oblivion.

The voices of the Suttons murmured on in the dining room; the hard, dry snow picked at the clapboards; the beams of the little house cracked.

But Henry Pennock was outside in the bitter night. With his overcoat collar turned up around his wrinkled neck and the flaps of his cap pulled over his big ears, and his breath going out before him like a flag, he hurried along in a pattering trot, and, as he went, he talked to himself in time to his steps.

Henry Pennock wasn't quite right nor quite grown up, in spite of his graying hair. The Suttons looked out for him, and he did their chores, when he remembered to. If it hadn't been for the Suttons, he'd have had nowhere to go. Ralph Holt, as long as he lived in Sutton Springs, had kept the boys off him, and the men, too, for that matter. Under Ralph's prompt and heavy hand, baiting Henry Pennock had lost its zest. And since, also, Ralph could ride anything that could carry him, and clip a flying dollar with his forty-four, and wasn't afraid even of Matt Farr or any of Matt's friends, it was no wonder that he had grown up in Henry's mind to proportions somewhat more than human.

As he went up the steps of the little building that housed the telephone company, "Ralph can do anything!" Henry said to himself, with the fervor of a fanatic, his faded blue-gray eyes agleam. And went inside and got him on the telephone.

Shooting Up the Town

NOW, there were ways by which every telephoned thing in Sutton Springs that might interest him was communicated to Matthew Farr with the minimum of delay, and one of them, in cloak and arctics, left the back door of the building as Henry went out of the front. When Farr reached home at last, on a very weary horse, her report was under his door.

He read it and went out again.

"Matt Farr went up there," Henry Pennock had said to Ralph over the telephone, "an' scared her so bad she tried to shoot him! An'—an' she got away an' come down Old Squaw mountain on skis. No, she wasn't hurt—just tired. She's down to Sutton's, an'—an' they don't any of 'em know what to do, an'—an' Farr's snowed in up to the pass . . ."

Molly hadn't said that, but Henry had inferred it. If he hadn't believed it was true he wouldn't have telephoned. For he had been present that day in the postoffice when Joe Harper, the carrier who delivered mail through Ice-Box Canyon, had brought in word of the murder of old man Buckmaster, who had been fighting Farr so long on the question of damming the Little Susie river, and suddenly, in the midst of the frightened quiet that followed Harper's words, Ralph had said:

"Gentlemen, I'm running for county attorney, and, if I'm elected, I'm going to clean up Sutton Springs."

Ralph had moved over to Buena Monte and begun his campaign the next, and hadn't been back since. Henry knew that anything might happen the first time he met Farr, and, after the events of yesterday, wouldn't have brought them together for the world with a little gold fence around it. But with Farr away—

Henry was pattering along toward the station to meet Ralph's train. When he approached the place where his street became the town side of the little open space at the back of the station known as Depot Square, and heard shooting there, he jumped, because shooting always frightened him, in spite of its frequency and usual meaninglessness in his town. And, when he turned to the right and entered the square and recognized the three men who were whipping a tomato can along with bullets, a panic sprang up in his blood, and, almost before he knew what he was doing he had ducked for shelter behind an old signboard projecting at right angles from a board fence that surrounded a vacant lot, in which had once been sold the second-hand automobiles advertised on the board.

"Drat the fools!" he muttered, and cowered down in the corner until the men should have got a little farther off and he could creep away without being seen.

"Them birds," said the hardware merchant in his doorway, with his fist full of wire nails, "will git recklesser and recklesser till, first thing you know, they'll be practisin' on folks!"

With his free hand he unhooked a sign reading "Open" and hung it on the outside of his wooden storm door.

"Last time they was in they shot all the bells off'n the burros bringin' down ore from the Lone Hand mine. But"—shutting the storm door for safety and the glass door inside of it for warmth—"I don't know as a feller can do anything about it." And he dumped the nails into the pan on his scales and reached for more.

And Sutton, approaching Depot Square with Molly Blaine on the side away from the Rodens, wasn't intending to do anything about it either, if he could help it. He had the look of an old man who wanted peace.

Somebody had telephoned him from Buena Monte that Ralph had heard through Henry Pennock what happened yesterday at the pass and was coming over on the morning train, and Chuck had turned from the telephone and strapped on his two old forty-fours and stepped out, just as he'd used to do—with Molly following, very pale and grave, but her step as elastic as ever.

"Old Chuck's wearing 'em," said the town, as it had at times like these in the past, but said it with a difference.

Chuck had been a peaceful old gray rock of a man who never bothered you unless he had to, and then moved down upon you like something from an elder age and wiped you out. It was his father the town was named for, and he'd been born there in days when killing Indians was part of a man's education.

The Sixteenth Board

"MATT," he had said once to Farr, "as long as you keep off me and mine, you can stay here—for the good reason that I'm not powerful enough to run you out. But, when you get too rank, I'm going to send you word. Not till I have to, mind you. But, when I do, you heed it, Matt. I don't like killing things—even things like you."

And three times he had sent Matt word, and Matt had heeded it.

Time was when Chuck's going abroad adorned like that was the next thing to having the governor send in the militia; when the familiar phrase about his wearing 'em would have made itself felt up and down the Roden boys' three long spines and spiced with wariness the conduct of every Farrite in the place. But that was while his steel blue eyes could still range on ahead and around him like a couple of questing dogs, and his spry old bowlegged step was as steady as a burro's—in short, before he had lain for an hour or so in a snowslide in Ice-Box Canyon, which, come Christmas, was two years ago. Now he walked with a limp, and his right arm was never going to come quite straight again, and across the square like that he couldn't tell Bud Roden from his brother.

"Don't worry," he said to Molly as they crossed the square together. "Maybe Farr's not in town at all. And"—as steadily as he could—"there's nothing to that jamboree over there."

But what both of them were remembering as they entered the station was how two of Farr's enemies had been killed already by the guns of playful drunks and how the Farr-picked jury both times had said it was an "accident."

And even Henry Pennock, by this time, had remembered, too. In fact, behind his signboard, he had gone as pale as the snow at his feet; his eyes were wide, his hands clenched, and his chest so full of air that he was dizzy with holding it. For he had realized suddenly that, for all their whoops and antics, pretended reelings and stumblings and thickness of speech, the Roden boys were cold sober. Cold sober and shooting with the accuracy of head-liners in a Wild West show.

And just then the station clock drove nine strokes into him like nails. In ten minutes the train would come in, with a curl of snow about its plow, and Ralph—because he'd asked him to—would step down, and Bud Roden would pot him, by "accident."

Henry's mind clutched at the situation, held it steady for a moment, and then went whirling like something with a broken spring. He covered his face with his hands.

It is probable that he would have remained there, crouched like a cat-cornered mouse, while whatever was on its way played itself out in the square, if the Rodens, having demolished the can, hadn't cracked down in triple unison on the signboard. Three bullets zipped past his nose, so close that the splintered wood stung his cheek.

He ran a desperate, frantic glance over his hiding place. Clawing around in the snow, he found that the boards in the old fence had rotted away at the bottom. Feverishly he wrenched two of them loose, scrambled through somehow, and rolled over into the banked-up snow in the vacant lot, while the three men continued to blaze away.

"All set, kid?" Bud Roden muttered to his youngest brother; and the boy said, a little grim and pale, "All set."

And then came Henry Pennock down the street, having climbed the fence farther back, where no one could see. He clutched in his shaking hand the big pencil a carpenter had given him once, and he'd carried ever since, and he was counting fence boards to himself with agonized absorption.

"Thirteen, fourteen, fifteen — SIX-TEEN!" counted Henry under breath, the perspiration standing out on him heavily in the sharp, cold morning, and ran to the sixteenth board from the corner and drew a great, wavy black ring on it with the pencil.

"I—I—I'll b-bet you can't hit that!" he stammered. "Ten dollars that you c-can't hit it!" He flourished the money. "Come on now! B-be a sport! T-ten dollars!"

The Rodens shouted with laughter and fired as one man.

"Lesh give li'l Henry 's money's worth!" And they did it again. And again and again, while Henry stood there, shaking like an aspen-tree in a gale, and stared with eyes starting from his head at that sixteenth board—stared till the big, wavy black ring was riddled like a colander and something red was trickling out beneath it through the snow.

All four of them saw it together. The Roden boys lowered their guns and stared, stiffening a little, and Henry Pennock walked over to a big iron basket the town used for the burning of rubbish and leaned against it, limp and scared.

The youngest Roden said thickly, as if his tongue were too big for his mouth: "Do you suppose that s-somebody—?"

They stood with their guns in their hands; and then, at last, "You go, Bud," said Merton, the middle one.

But Bud shook his head, and they went together.

They didn't notice when the train came in, nor the people who collected silently and stared with them over the fence.

Henry Pennock shut his mouth in a grim, tight line on what he knew. And then he opened it, and, being too short to see, said—distinctly for publication—"Was there somebody back there?"

Ralph Holt looked down at him and nodded. "Matt Farr," he said, soberly. "He died reaching for his gun."

For he had realized suddenly that, for all their whoops and stumblings and thickness of speech, the Roden boys were cold sober.

Unsinkable Cabin Is Latest Scheme

Italian Invention Uses a Centuries Old Idea in Effort to Prevent Disasters

THE terrible loss of life in submarine disasters has brought home to designers the necessity of providing some avenue of escape for men imprisoned in under-sea boats.

Many schemes have been suggested, including a detachable cabin that floats to the surface with the crew. But all have proved useless, either swamping the submarine by their weight or failing to release at the critical moment.

Now an Italian inventor, Menotti Nanni, has devised an under-sea lifeboat to be attached and released in an entirely different way. To overcome the defects common to most submarine lifeboats, Nanni has devised vacuum cup fasteners which he claims will assure speedy release of a barrel-shaped lifeboat that carries a crew to safety.

He employs a principle centuries old. In 1654, Otto Von Guericke, an experimental philosopher of Madgeburg, Germany, demonstrated the power of a vacuum. He fitted together two copper hemispheres, then with a pump sucked out the air between them. The shells could not be pulled apart even though thirty horses were employed. But when a valve that let in air was opened the shells separated on their own accord.

Nanni employs this method as a means of "bolting" an unsinkable life-cabin to the shell of a submarine. A pair of close-fitting, smooth-faced domes or caps are attached, one to the submarine and one to the life-cabin. Between them a vacuum is produced by a suction pump in the submarine. Under the tremendous pressure of sea and air the cabin is fastened securely. Yet a turn of a valve that lets the sea into the vacuum frees the two parts instantly and releases the cabin.

Day Gains Second Over Long Period

Amounts to One Second Every Thousand Centuries So Why Worry?

OLD Grandmother Earth is getting just a little more sunshine in her life as Old Father Time clicks off the revolving centuries. It isn't a great deal, in the sunshine and daylight measurements as reckoned by puny man, but in her time it may amount to quite a lot.

Sir Frank Dyson, astronomer-royal at Greenwich Observatory, has calculated that the days are lengthening at the rate of something like one second in every 1,000 centuries.

In a lecture on "The Observation of the Solar Eclipse," Sir Frank explained how the eclipse in Nineveh in 753 B.C. enabled astronomers to discover that the speed of the rotation of the earth was gradually being reduced.

Halley's calculations of the eclipse in Nineveh showed that that city should have been some hundreds of miles outside the zone of observation. To make his calculation fit the facts, he suggested that the month was getting longer, and subsequent work had shown that the movement of the tides was lengthening the day by a thousandth part of a second each century.

Paris Night Life Bumped by Taxes

Music and Dancing After Midnight Succumb to Heavy Financial Strain

THE mills of the tax machine operated by Premier Poincare are grinding the night life of Paris exceedingly thin. Even the celebrated Cafe de Paris—as well known in song and story and books of memoirs as Delmonico's and Churchill's and other restaurants were in New York—has given up music and dancing after midnight.

Newer and higher taxes that became effective on New Year's day snuffed out the supper dancing there, as it did in many lesser known places. If there is music after midnight an extra tax of 27½ per cent. must be added to all the bills. Even before midnight there is, in the better, more expensive places, a luxury tax, and a music tax and several other taxes to pay. The new "wee small hours" tax fell too heavily on customers' pocketbooks in places that depend upon an old clientele, so they imposed a curfew on themselves.

TAKING NO CHANCES

A YOUNG idiot had run through his money. His friends rallied round to collect enough to send him abroad to begin life afresh. Amongst others, they called upon a bookie to whom the subject of their visit had contributed many hundreds in his time.

The bookie listened to the deputation's story, and his heart was touched—almost.

Colwood

Colwood, May 15.—A most successful dance, arranged by the Wilfert Lumber Social Club in aid of Colwood Hall funds, was held Friday evening in Colwood Hall, there being about 250 present. Len Acre's orchestra played the latest music and repeated encores were called for. The hall was decorated with evergreen and Spring flowers, the committee in charge of decorations being G. M. Piercy and S. Rogers.

A large number were in "hick" costumes, the prizes for the best costumes being awarded to Mrs. T. Godfrey and A. Godfrey, while the forunate winners at 500 were Mrs. D. Woods and F. Oak, of Langford; the consolation prizes were won by Miss Chandler, of Langford, and Mrs. Moyse, of Victoria.

Competition was keen for the statue dance, but the lucky ones proved to be Misses M. Sundin and I. Peatt. These two prizes were donated by E. Peatt.

Delicious refreshments were served, the committee in charge being Mesdames Piercy, Forman, Hopwood and V. Green.

A very substantial amount will be handed over to the Colwood Hall committee, and great credit for the success of Friday's dance should be given the energetic arrangements committee, as follows: L. E. Rogers, G. Fogan, V. Green and George Piercy. The capable master of ceremonies was V. Green.

Instructive and interesting motion pictures will be shown Friday evening, May 18, in Colwood Hall, by the Vancouver Island representative, E. V. Ablett, of the Canadian Forestry Association. Considerable information and the inner workings of the logging industry of British Columbia will be given by Mr. Ablett. An amusing Felix film entitled "Lumber Jacks," will conclude the programme.

Sayward

Sayward, May 15.—A very enjoyable dance was given on Saturday by the Sayward Athletic Club, visitors coming from Port Neville and Hardwick Island. The hall was decorated with wild currant blossom. A feature of the evening was a Badminton match between Richard Dyer and John Robinson against John Henry and Arthur Sacht. The contest was very close. The prize waltz was won by Frederick Sacht and Miss D. K. Bagshaw. The company was favored with a violin solo by Frank Smit, who, with Miss Carrie Hinder at the piano, provided dance music. Supper was served by the members of the club. S. H. Dyer and W. Kelsey acted as judges for the dancing contests and H. Davies managed the floor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Wright returned home on Tuesday's boat after a short visit to Vancouver.

Better Sleeping

When two children sleep together it is a good plan to place a pillow between them, lengthwise. It prevents their disturbing each other when turning.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full direction—any drugstore

MRS. GORDON'S REPORT

Mrs. J. D. Gordon, the secretary pro tem, after reviewing the steps leading to her appointment as secretary in September last, owing to the departure of Miss Dashwood for England, noted that in the past three months she had sent out by hand from two to a dozen letters a day in the business of the institutes, in addition to the many sent out with the assistance of Mrs. MacLachlan.

She continued: "You can readily see then that the board's routine business has been heavy. It is a bureau of information to perplexed institutes, a help to all desiring its good offices and is intended to act as advisory to the superintendent and the department in all matters connected with the district. The board has taken the deepest interest in all the work reported by institutes and earnestly seconded the efforts of the department and the Provincial board in creating markets for women's products and have long desired more instruction in industries for rural women, to enable them to produce merchantable products commanding a ready sale. The rag and quilt industry received a decided impetus at the meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, followed by exhibits and demonstrations at the Armories during the Home Products Fair.

HICKMAN FILM RESOLUTION

"The resolution on the Hickman film has won for the District Board the very higest praise from almost everybody cognizant of it. To be sure a few have persisted in crediting it to the Council of Women, whose resolution was only in support of the board's resolution. The Municipal I.O.D.E. of Victoria wrote the board congratulating them on their success in terms of the highest praise, as did also many other organizations in B.C. and Alberta.

FINANCING CONFERENCE

"In financing this conference, a per capita tax of thirty cents has been levied. Last conference sixty cents per capita was levied, and even that amount was not sufficient for all expenses. It may be remembered that exception was taken to my resolution of former days asking that the department be asked to aid in defraying the necessary expenses, but it was absolutely necessary. Last term's District Board were left without enough to meet all obligations, not from undue extravagance, but because sixty cents per capita was not enough to meet all necessary expenditures and leave anything in the treasury to go on with.

GOVERNMENT AID

"This year the Government has defrayed transportation expenses for all official delegates, each institute is entitled to one delegate; has printed the programmes and allowed a stenographer to aid very materially in the preparation for the conference. It was in order to save money for the institutes that the garden party at Government House and other matters were undertaken by the District Board, but enough was not realized to obviate entirely the necessity for a tax. Neither do I think it desirable that the institutes should not meet a part of the expense of a conference and I do not believe that they desire it.

"When the per capita tax notice was sent out, Lake Hill was the first institute to respond, but the others came in rapidly. From advices received all the districts excepting one are sending delegates. As to finances, our bank book reports over $220. This is subject to revision.

INSTITUTES AND FAIRS

"May I urge on all institutes to do all in their power to build up, not only their own local fairs, but the larger exhibitions, Provincial or otherwise, such as those held in Courtenay, Duncan, Victoria, Saanichton, Vancouver and New Westminster. By exhibiting in the smaller local shows, the institutes get local credit and publicity for themselves, but in the larger fairs they receive publicity for their organization and their district as well as for their individual institute.

"Victoria Fair is making special arrangements this year for institute exhibits and is devoting the upper floor of the Women's Bulding to that purpose. May I advise that your preparations be placed under way at the earliest possible date. One successful institute began work at once at the close of last season's fairs.

W.I. COMPLIMENTED

"I beg to compliment Sooke and North Sooke on an unusually conscientious secretary, whose reports have kept us in touch with their work. Colwood is forging ahead rapidly and Qualicum deserves very great credit. Langford has gone into the front row. Strawberry Vale has built a nice new hall and West Saanich has built and paid for a hall costing approximately $4,000. Cobble Hill, Cowichan and Vimy are very high in health work. Lake Hill, Garden City and South Saanich do excellent work in entertainment. Parksville's schools still reflect credit on its institute. Many other institutes have done equally well, I am sure, but have not let us know about it. Publicity conveners take notice in all institutes!

"Nearly all institutes have shown a very kindly interest in the little children of the Solarium and will be proportionately glad of the opportunity to visit their little friends and see for themselves how admirably they are cared for and how happy their lives have become.

LOVE AND SERVICE

"For it is in proportion as we work and give that we live and grow as institutes and individuals. Love and service are the only things that make life worth living. Creative development that comes with doing makes a new and worth-while woman out of a very commonplace lady. And our aim should be to work so as to have in our country the greatest possible number of happy and prosperous homes filled with good and progressive citizens. All of our ten committees will be needed, everyone should be pressed into service, all workers, no gallery of critics, should be our motto in institute work, and with such a breadth of vision as institute ideals give us, how can we fail to succeed?"

HOMES SOUGHT FOR 200,000

Regional Director of Near East Relief Tells of Urgent Need For Help

Homes are sought for 200,000 Near East refugees, Rev. J. J. Handsaker, regional director, reported at a meeting of the Vancouver Island Committee of the Near East Relief and Save the Children Fund at the Conservative rooms yesterday afternoon.

B. C. Nicholas was made honorary chairman, and Rev. A. deB. Owen, temporary chairman, the late Rev. W. Leslie Clay having been chairman at the time of his death.

Reports were made by Rev. Mr. Handsaker of the progress of the work overseas. There are some 200,000 refugees which the League of Nations committees, with the aid of the Lord Mayor's Fund is attempting to place in permanent homes. "There are 32,000 orphans in the care of the children's funds. The immediate task is to care for the refugees and the children," he said.

"The most significant thing done by Victoria last year was the founding of a home for girls in Athens," stated Mr. Handsaker. "It is the only hope of sixty afflicted girls, girls of fine character, but who have suffered both mentally and phyically in the deportations.

"We are finding homes and employment as fast as possible for these girls, but this home is their one chance for the future. They stay here until they are located."

The committee voted to ask Rt. Rev. Wm. P. Remington, Bishop of Eastern Oregon, to address a golden rule dinner in the Fall in case sufficient funds are not secured this Spring.

Rev. M. B. Parounogian cited cases of sacrificial giving on the part of Victoria people and urged that every effort be put forth to bring the work to a successful conclusion by raising funds to provide for Victoria's share of the orphan children and refugees.

Wheat Outlook Now Brightest in Years

Winnipeg, May 15.—Western Canada's 1928 grain crop has been given a start which is regarded as the most favorable in many years and with an appreciable increase in acreage sown to wheat the outlook is the brightest in a decade. Farmers in all sections of the grain belt have worked feverishly during the past two weeks to complete seeding. During that period the weather has remained ideal and, coupled with excellent soil conditions, work has progressed steadily.

Wheat seeding is virtually finished in Manitoba, while latest reports indicate that seeding of coarse grains is well advanced.

Saskatchewan farmers have made splendid headway with the 1928 crop, anywhere from 40 to 100 per cent being in the ground. Much coarse grain seeding also is completed in this province.

Alberta reports the most encouraging progress. Most of the southern districts of the province have completed wheat seeding, while in the central and northern areas, farmers are working day and night in an effort to conclude operations before wet weather sets in.

From isolated districts reports have been received of early sown wheat showing well above ground. Scattered showers over the prairies during the week-end did much to improve prospects in these quarters. Further showers are forecast.

Geologists to Survey Flin Flon District

Toronto, May 15.—Professor E. L. Bruce of the science department of Queen's University, has been chosen by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, to undertake a geological survey of the district north of Flin Flon, in Northern Manitoba, in the interests of the C.N.R.

Dr. Bruce spent several seasons in that district for the geological survey of Canada. He will leave very soon for the West.

A Builder of Morale

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

He came with his moving vans early in the morning. It was early and it was cold, and it was dark.

Nobody had had time for even a cup of coffee, so it is not difficult to guess what the family dispositions were like. He was about as welcome as smallpox on shipboard the day of landing.

But he was more than a moving man. He was a philosopher. His greeting was cheery and kind, and in about fifteen minutes he had not only the grumpy family, but the men who were helping to carry the load, feeling that lifting pianos and trunks and heavily-packed chests was about as jolly as a five-ring circus.

Then came the wind and rain and sleet. Dispositions began to curdle again. I could hear him keeping up the morale of the men as they made countless trips back and forth to the house. Not for one instant did he lose his own temper. Indeed he seemed to improve as the burdens grew heavier.

It was a long, hard moving and it took the entire day. There were many miles to travel. At seven o'clock that evening the men were so tired they were leaning against the walls. And then, although he was tired and exhausted himself, I wish you could have heard him! You would have thought that someone had left him a fortune and he was off for a Summer's vacation.

Did I say he was a philosopher? He also was a general. Not once did he say, "It's too bad, fellows! It will soon be over." He knew how tired they were. But he didn't make them more weary by talking about it.

He simply remained patient, kind and cheerful to the very last.

At 8 o'clock that night he said to me pleasantly, "Well I guess that's all. I hope everything will be all right, and you'll like it here."

There wasn't so much as a bottle broken, or a chair scratched, but I would have forgiven him anything. I know a lot of wonderful people, but this man whom I have known intermittently for fifteen years, has stood the test of time. Like Abou Ben Adhem, he just about heads all the rest

"MISS VICTORIA" PICKS HER PARIS GOWN AND HAT

Presentations to Be Made Wednesday Night By George I. Warren

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Pilkington, and by Mrs. Allwood, her official chaperone, "Miss Victoria, 1928" went to the South African Plume Shop, where she selected the first prize awarded the champion bathing beauty by the South African shop.

Harry Malakoff, manager of the shop, made the offer, in presenting the prize, that "Miss Victoria" be allowed to choose her own dress from the store's stock, without any reserve.

Her choice was a French model, white georgette, encrusted with blue rhinestones and a blue and white fringe.

After she had made her choice of gown, the little Cinderella picked out a hat to match, which is also being presented to her by Mr. Malakoff. The hat selected is of silver mohair with blue flower trimmings.

She also visited Maynard's Ladies' Shoe Shop, where she was fitted with a pair of silver slippers, the latest Fifth Avenue creation.

The presentations to "Miss Victoria" and the other beauty contestants will be made Wednesday night on the stage of the Dominion Theatre. George I. Warren, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies and will start "Miss Victoria" on her way in the competition for the title of "Miss Canada."

"Miss Nanaimo" will come to Victoria to-morrow to appear with "Miss Victoria" here and then the two girls will leave on Saturday and travel by Canadian National through Jasper Park to Edmonton, arriving there Monday morning, ready for the start of the "Miss Canada" competition which will run through the chief prairie cities.

"Miss Victoria" and Miss Nanaimo" to-morrow night will first pose in bathing suits, "Miss Victoria" donning for the first time the new silk bathing suit specially imported for her by J. M. Robertson, manager of the Dominion Theatre. Afterwards she will put on Mr. Malakoff's prize gown and hat, the shoes and stockings and display them to the Victoria audience. The other contestants will also show their prizes.

CAMPAIGN HAS GOOD RESULTS

Huge Flow of Tourist Traffic From East to Northwest Expected This Year

The persistent campaign of advertising carried on by Victoria and numerous cities and organizations in the Pacific northwest has been more than ordinarily effective in arousing inquiry in the East this year according to a telegram from A. J. Dickinson, passenger traffic manager of the Great Northern Railway to the Chamber of Commerce.

Many more thousands of word-of-mouth advertisers are now boosting the recreational attractions of the Pacific Northwest, according to Mr. Dickinson. This is no mean factor in building up the volume of Summer traffic to the vacation lands of Victoria, Vancouver, Glacier Park, Spokane, the Columbia River basin, Seattle, Tacoma, Mount Ranier, Mount Baker, Portland and the other resorts of the Northwest, he says.

Low round trip Summer tourist fares from Eastern cities to the Northwest go into effect to-morrow, Mr. Dickinson announces. Passenger officials of the Great Northern believe this season will prove to be best for tourist traffic in several years.

YOUNG ARTISTS IN FINE PROGRAMME

Child musicians received an enthusiastic welcome at the Memorial Hall last night when the combined choirs of St. Margaret's and St. George's School Cathedral Sunday school and choir, together with Dorothy Greenwood, pianist; Miss Mary Bucklin, 'cellist; Master George Tate, violinist, and Masters Desmond and Brian Burdon-Murphy, pianists, presented a most attractive programme. The Dean of Columbia presided and complimented the young musicians on the excellence of their performance.

The choral numbers, all representative of the earlier schools and Old English, were sung with good balance, spirit, flexibility and rhythm. Vocal duets by the Misses Enola Moss and Jean Sheppard, and Masters Billy Inglis and Kenneth Cave, solos by Master Richard Eaton and Master John Davies, all revealed the freshness and clarity of young voices.

CONVENTION IS TO DRAW 6,000

Kiwanis International Gathering in Seattle From June 17 Till 21

Seattle, May 15.—Speakers at the twelfth annual convention of Kiwanis International to be held here June 17-21 will be United States Senator Clarence C. Dill of Spokane, and Dr. Thomas Arkle Clark, dean of men, University of Illinois, according to Henry C. Heinz of Atlanta, president of Kiwanis.

"Because of the many problems confronting the world in this age," speakers have been secured who can inform the convention on the complexities, the progress and the outlook for the immediate future," Mr. Heinz stated.

"I am confident all our delegates and visitors at Seattle will find the twelfth convention stimulating, educational and recreational. All convention preparations are well on the way to completion. The Seattle club will be ready for all its guests and hotel accommodations will be found satisfactory."

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION

The executive secretary of the organization, Fred C. W. Parker, Chicago, also assured the membership that accommodations will be found very good. "Since Seattle ranks sixth in the United States for excellent hotel accommodations no Kiwanian need worry about his reservations," he says. "All who visit Seattle are assured good rooms."

The convention office in Seattle, which was opened in January, reports an expected attendance of 6,000 delegates and visitors from the 1,703 clubs in the United States and Canada.

"The convention proper, the scenic beauty of the West, the post-convention tours and the opportunity of the intermingling of Kiwanians from cities all over the North American continent, will increase the general attendance," Merton S. Heiss, convention manager, says.

MEDICAL TESTS FIND AILMENTS WHILE MINOR

Regular Examination Is Great Aid to Long Life, Kiwanians Told

The value of regular periodic medical examinations was stressed to the Kiwanis Club to-day at the Empress Hotel by Dr. Gordon Kenning, in a review of the development of preventive medicine and the opportunities regular medical examination offers for saving to the community men and women in the prime of life.

LACK OF WARNING

Most diseases were amenable to treatment in early stages, but generally at that time are unaccompanied by pain. It was because of this condition that Dr. Kenning recommended periodic health examinations, pointing out that an ounce of prevention was worth a pound of cure.

He sketched the wide range of facts to be ascertained by the careful examiner before an accurate diagnosis was possible.

Twenty Victoria Kiwanians will attend the Kiwanis district convention at Seattle, according to a poll taken this afternoon.

WOODWARD NOT B.C. CANDIDATE

Vancouver M.P.P. Informs City Liberal Association of His Withdrawal

Vancouver, May 15.—Charles Woodward, M.P.P. for Vancouver, in a letter to the Vancouver City Liberal Association, says:

"Your kind invitation to attend the regular meeting of the executive of your association to hand.

"Owing to the differences of opinion with the Provincial Government of B.C., which I am expected to support as a party Liberal and not criticize, and in fairness to you as friends of the B.C. Government, I wish to state that I can not consistently support the Provincial Government's policy in the future, any more than I have in the past.

"I regret indeed, on account of the very friendly relations that have existed between us in the past, I have to make this statement.

CHOOSING OF CANDIDATES

"The election can not be delayed more than a few months, and you will require time to get your candidates lined up for the fray, therefore I state that I regret I can not be a Government candidate under the present policy.

"The friction between the B.C. Government and myself, owing to the policy exercised by them towards the city of Vancouver, is not conducive to the friendly feeling which should exist between the Government and the city of Vancouver.

"There are also other matters which I think are against the development and the best interests of our Province, which I have considered it my duty to take issue with the Government on.

THANKS LEADERS

"I wish to thank the executive of to-day and those of the past for their friendship and confidence shown to me as senior member for the city of Vancouver, and I can assure you I will not be a Conservative candidate in any case."

Mr. Woodward also has written to Premier MacLean, informing him of his decision.

How to Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. MacFarlane Drug Co. and Vancouver Drug Co. Limited sell lots of it. (Adv.)

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, May 15.—Wheat: The wheat market was steady during the first period this morning, prices declining slightly under last night's close but reacted sharply in sympathy with the upturn in Chicago, local prices climbing about 1½ cents over the previous close.

While there was not the same disposition to sell the market as on the past few days, the buying power was not particularly good, and outside of a little buying early by seaboard houses, the trade was largely local, with shorts being forced to cover. There was some export business worked overnight but the volume was said to be disappointing.

There was a little better demand for cash wheat, reflecting the export business and a little buying by mills. Spreads were about unchanged to fractionally higher on one or two grades. Broomhall reported that the foreign demand for wheat was astonishingly quiet, and that the continent was not taking advantage of the break in prices to replenish their pre-harvest requirements as native offerings were more liberal owing to the improved weather. Rains were general over Winter and Spring wheat territory in the United States, but light in Spring wheat territory.

Chicago, May 15—Wheat: From all the information we can gather on the wheat situation at home and abroad, we are inclined to think that if we had a little more domestic confidence the foreign situation would help us get better prices. Our wheat is now around the mid-point of its entire range and conditions at home and abroad appear to be enough below normal to justify above average prices for the next three months at least.

WHITNEY LETTER

New York, May 15 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial bureau says today:

"While I do not believe that there is anything which can be designated by the name of reaction in the making, I believe that with relatively few exceptions it will pay to await some moderate recessions to-day before making any long commitments. The additional advance in the copper group which has been clearly indicated for weeks past coincides with an actual advance in the prices of the metal and should be followed by a similar performance on the part of the zinc and lead stocks. The rail group should, before the end of the day, have had a sufficient reaction from its recently established new high record to make this group a purchase again for a new advance later in the week. Sound oils are still in a buying range with the greater proportion of which will be their total advance.

"Pullman is through to a new top and should go to a price of $100 a share on this phase of its advance.

"Above 200 profits can be accepted in American Smelters on a scale up.

"A new high record for Chrysler makes it advisable to await reaction before making any contemplated commitments. At aproximately prevailing prices I recommend purchase of U.S. Steel for a resumption of advance, S.O. of N.Y., Can. Pac., Tex. and Pac., Hudson and Manhattan, and Brooklyn Man. Transit.

"While the passing of Collins Aikman dividend was totally unexpected I believe that nothing other than a corporate technical move is involved and definitely recommend against disposing of the stock. American Solvents and Chemical pfd is still cheap under 40, its purchase is again recommended."

Coppers Active In Bond Market

New York, May 15.—Trading was dull and prices remained firm in the bond market to-day. Continued hesitancy was apparent in early trading, evidently because of the fact that funds have been flowing into the call money market for short term financing rather than into the time money market, leaving a smaller proportion available for bond transactions.

Coppers again attracted most of the buying, Andes Copper 7s advancing a point. Anaconda and Chile Copper 7s made small gains. Buying of copper obligations is said by those close to the industry to be based largely on favorable trade conditions, increased export prices and shipments and a noticeable reduction in the domestic stock.

Rails were inclined to heaviness. Bangor & Aroostook first 5s, Great Western 4s and St. Paul 5s, of 1975, sagging. New York Traction issues eased slightly on profit-taking. Continued buying caused limited advances in St. Paul 5s of 2,000 and New York Central and Hudson River refunding 5s.

Wall Street To-day

(By B.C. Bond Corporation's Leased Wire)

New York, May 15.—The evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says: Sixty thousand shares of Studebaker opened at 71¾, up 4½ points, and gave a clue to the market, which later developed into a vigorous demonstration in the motor group, excluding General Motors, which temporarily was shoved into the background by activity in Chrysler, Packard Hupp and Hudson Motors. In fact, the street believed that considerable switching was going on by selling General Motors and going into other motor issues, which were showing more market initiative.

M. J. Meehan was credited with being one of the largest purchasers of Studebaker and in the afternoon it was reported that interests who had been prominent on the long side of General Motors were shifting on to Hudson, Packard found favor not only because of its fine earnings but because of its aeroplane motor division.

Wright Aeroplane had another sensational up-rush and just at the close it was announced that 50,000 additional shares would be offered for subscription at 100.

The copper stocks early in the day had given evidence of further volume advance, but when the motor group came to the front interests in the metal stocks dwindled, although it continued to be pointed out that further advances in the price of copper metal were altogether likely, indicating a rising trend in the earnings of leading copper companies.

Call money 5½ per cent all day.

Montreal, May 15.—The local market was in a quieter mood this morning, and although there were quite a few strong spots in the list, the general tone showed irregularity.

Taking Money Out of the Air

Air was converted into wealth, but very slowly, by the alchemy of the wind-miller, in days gone by. Since then the world has accelerated its pace. In the Old Country and Europe, after the war, new methods were tried with the inevitable occasional failure. But in the past few years, and especially on this continent,

Wheat Acreage Showing Increase

Winnipeg, May 15—Improved weather conditions this Spring will account for an increased wheat acreage, according to the second weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railway. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta all report seeding well advanced and more ground seeded. Some parts of Northern Saskatchewan will have double the acreage of last year. Although here and there wet and frost have delayed ploughing, seeding should be completed this week in most places. Wheat is two inches high south of Moose Jaw.

Prairie Grain Leader Now in Victoria Turns To Reincarnation

E. A. Partridge, author of "The War on Poverty," and the first organizer of the Grain Growers on the Prairies, is here from Sintulita, Saskatchewan, with his daughter. They have taken up their residence at 716 Humboldt Street.

"This is the most wonderful place for climate in all Canada," Mr. Partridge said. "I don't see how people could want to live anywhere else unless forced to by circumstances."

Since retiring from active participation in the grain movement, Mr. Partridge has become a leader in the reincarnation movement.

"Reincarnation is the hope of the world," he said to-day. "Other creeds, with heaven and hell, fall of insufficiency when compared with it. With reincarnation there is continued progress of humanity and we all have the opportunity of repairing our losses and building further on our accomplishments."

R. Dodds, who pioneered the Brookdale, Manitoba, district in 1879, is another prairie veteran who is in Victoria to-day. He is at the Dominion Hotel renewing acquaintances with John Allan, builder of the first elevator at Fort William, and other prairie men here.

What of the Market?

By H. P. BLISS

New York, May 15.—General news over the week-end lacks features of market importance and we anticipate for the early part of this week the continuance of a strong tone in selected industrials. Chrysler may be expected to go still higher, the manner in which all previous resistance points were broken Friday suggesting that the way had been opened to the attainment of price levels which have been so long predicted.

We believe there are signs of some active market sponsorship in National Dairy Products, whose position in its industry and developed earning power make the stock, we think, attractive around current market prices. In the near future action should be taken on the Paramount-Lasky dividend, and it is entirely possible, we think, that directors will order the extra dividend of two per cent payable in stock the same as a year ago.

We anticipate further strength in Standard Oil of New York, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Texas Corporation. The small reactionary period in those stocks seemed to have been completed toward the end of last week, to be succeeded by resumption of buying. General Asphalt and Sinclair should also do better.

American Smelting, American Can and Drug, Inc., are at around the best prices for the year, and we are looking forward to new high prices for all three.

COMPETITION SEVERE

PROFITS CUT

A careful survey of the business shows that conditions continue mixed, no lines being very good or very bad. The automobile industry continues in large volume, though production in April probably did not show the usual seasonal gain over March.

Building activity still makes a good showing in spite of the fact that April permits covering plans for residences, stores, etc., in cities and towns fell to the lowest point since 1924.

While steel production is maintained at a high percentage, even more significant than the large decline in new orders is the inability to prevent a further decline in prices. The volume of passing business is undoubtedly large, but it is incontestible that competition is severe and profits constantly growing narrower.

Following the recent unexpected cut in the prices for cigarettes, present trade conditions already presage similar action in the case of rubber goods and tires, leather and motor cars.

TRADING ITEMS

Northern Pacific is giving a good account of itself. Those who have been buying the stock recently are impressed with the increase in earnings, which gives promise of carrying further. We would follow strength and activity in "N.P."

American Can—Conditions affecting Can are more favorable this year, and it would not be at all surprising if the company were to show earnings of somewhere between $7 and $8 net this year. However it is not likely that directors will take action to increase the dividend, at least until after the middle of this year.

International Mercantile Marine—Pool operations have been resumed in Marine issues, and under present aggressive sponsorship it is quite likely that further attempts will be made to mark the stock up. Trading commitments in Marine issues should be protected by reasonable stop loss orders.

Stock opinions to-day are:

Bache & Co.—It seems to us that while those securities which have moved ahead energetically during the past few days pause to consolidate their recent gains, those other industrials and rails whose earnings show fair growth but which have been relatively quiescent this week will resume their advance.

Halle & Steiglitz—Still favor the rails. Copper and oils are still attractive, but buy the best ones in each group. Some utilities are still a bit out of line, although it is becoming difficult to find bargains in this group.

Hirsch, Lilienthal—Important interests are buying Western Union, and feel it has excellent possibilities of scoring a big advance.

Prince & Whitely—We are impressed with the possibilities of the Northwestern roads, because of crop conditions, and because attention has been attracted to them by the unification plan for Great Northern and Northern Pacific. The oils are comparatively inactive, but we expect the next move in them to be upward.

Reno Gold Mines Refinanced in Deal

Nelson, May 15—O. C. Thompson and associates are to be affiliated with the Reno Gold Mines Ltd. under a deal confirmed at a shareholders' meeting here yesterday.

The deal calls for refinancing of the company, equipping the mine with modern machinery and bringing the Reno to production at an early date. Large scale production will follow.

Three different sets in four drifts on the Reno vein show an approximate gold and silver value of $70.30 a ton. The property includes seventeen claims.

A pilot mill of twenty-five tons capacity is to be provided this Summer and following construction of the final mile of unbuilt road to the mine which is to start immediately. Construction work will be rushed.

To Spend $12,000,000 At Soo Steel Works

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., May 15.—"The Lake Superior Corporation expects to spend some $12,000,000 here in the next two or three years," Robert Dodd, president of the Lake Superior Corporation, who is here to attend a meeting of the directors, stated to-day. "But we must have some assurance from the Government that we shall be given reasonable assistance in the way of a tariff. Five and a half millions will be spent on the rail and merchants mills and the balance on a benzol plant, a skelp mill and sheet iron mill. Building operations on the benzol plant will start within three weeks."

"Everything will develop gradually," Mr. Dodd said. "If we get a tariff half as large as that enjoyed by the United States steel interests we will have 10,000 people employed here within the next five or six years."

CANADA ENTERS PROMISING ERA

Says E. W. Beatty, President of C.P.R.; Soon Here on Periodical Tour

Calgary, Alta., May 15.—"I am one of those who believe that Canada has entered into a period of prosperity which should continue for some time. The foundation of it will, of course, be our agricultural prosperity, plus the realization of our mineral and forest wealth," remarked E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in course of an interview here on Monday afternoon. Accompanied by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the western lines, the head of the great transportation system is making one of his periodical tours of inspection.

He will proceed to Banff for the opening of the Banff Springs Hotel, and proposes remaining at the famous mountain resort for a day or two. J. M. Cameron, general superintendent of the Alberta district, accompanied the president over the lines in his territory. Mr. Beatty was met during his brief stay at the station by His Worship Mayor Fred. E. Osborne, City Solicitor Brockington, Lieut.-Col. J. H. Woods and others, as well as the local officials of the company.

Continuing his theme of the period of prosperity that Canada had entered upon, the president said that this in itself would have a distinct effect on industrial and general business development. This prosperity will be greatly aided by increased immigration.

Mr. Beatty and Mr. Coleman and party will be in Victoria at the end of the present week for a stay of a day or two on business.

JOHN MEARS TO VISIT CITY

Will Arrive June 30 on Round the World Record Breaking Trip

In an effort to break the record for world traveling now held by Linton Wells and Capt. Evans, John Henry Mears, playwright and journalist, will pass through Victoria from the Orient on June 30 on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada.

Mr. Mears will leave from New York in about a month's time and endeavor to regain his record for world traveling which he made fifteen years ago when he circled the globe in thirty-five and one-half days and which was taken away from him in 1926, when Wells and Evans made the journey round the world in twenty-eight days. When Mr. Mears made his record-breaking trip in 1913 he passed through Victoria, as he will do this time. Mr. Mears on this trip will be accompanied by Charles B. D. Collyer, a Nashville, Tennesse, aviator who will pilot the special plane which will be carried on the expedition. Mr. Mears will take no chances on hiring planes or even making connections with air schedules, but he will take with him a Fairchild cabin monoplane of folding wing type with a cruising radius of 2,000 miles. This plane will be used on the journey from here to Seattle immediately after the arrival of the Empress at William Head in the early hours of the morning of June 30. It will also be used in various hops across Europe and Asia and then across the American continent.

A dispatch from New York says that the French liner Paris sailed from that city on Saturday last for Plymouth and Havre with 1,100 passengers and a heavy cargo, which included John Mears' aeroplane for use in his race around the world next month. It was carried on the after-deck of the Paris as passenger's excess baggage. It was the first time that an aeroplane has been carried uncrated, as passengers' baggage, and it created quite a sensation on the big liner when she sailed from New York. The wings of the plane were folded back against a fuselage, giving the plane the appearance of a gigantic locust. The plane will be stored in the Old Country until Mears and his companion arrive there, which will be about the middle of June. Their exact date of sailing from New York is not yet known.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, May 15.—A group of steamship and other transportation representatives left here yesterday for Los Angeles to attend the annual western traffic conference, regarded as the most important gathering of the year in Pacific Coast traffic circles. The conference will last for three days with the first meeting set for to-day. Among the delegates who left here are Z. T. George, Pacific Coast traffic manager of the Luckenbach Steamship Company; George J. Yater, Pacific Coast manager of Norton Lilly & Company; A. F. Zipf, vice-president aid coast manager of the Williams Line, and William E. Pitch of the Calmar Line.

The Dollar liner President Hayes from New York via Balboa and San Pedro on her way around the world, is due to arrive here to-day with a full passenger list and some freight. The arrival of the Hayes will mark the one hundredth voyage of Dollar liners around the world since the start of the service four year ago. In that time the vessels of the fleet have traveled 2,900,000 miles.

MARINE NOTES

The whaling schooners, Blue, Black and White, of the Consolidated Whaling Company, left Victoria this morning en route for Rose Harbor in the Queen Charlotte Islands to commence their annual hunt. The other ships will leave within the next few days.

According to word received in the city by Colonel A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Federal Department of Marine here, the Dominion Government lighthouse tender Estevan will arrive in port here to-morrow morning after her trip around Vancouver Island.

The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada will sail from the Rithet piers for China and Japan, and the Philippines on Thursday afternoon, with a capacity cargo and a good passenger list. The Canada will sail from Vancouver at noon and will put to sea from Victoria about 7 o'clock.

A. C. Burdick, managing director of the Pacific Salvage Company, left yesterday afternoon on a business trip to Seattle. He will return to the city to-morrow.

Big Salmon Packing Firm Incorporated

With Capital of $7,500,000; Will Be Largest Packer of Salmon in the World; Will Own Twelve Coast Canneries, With Capacity of 50,000 Cases

Seattle, May 15. — Formation of a $7,500,000 corporation to acquire and operate the Pacific-American Fisheries and associated properties was revealed here yesterday. The new concern, which it is said will be the largest packer of salmon in the world, is to be known as the Pacific-American Company.

E. B. Deming, president of the Pacific-American Fisheries, will be the executive of the new company. The consolidation embraces holdings developed by Deming since the formation of the Pacific-American Fisheries in 1905.

It was organized at that time with a capitalization of $450,000, and has since expanded and developed a world market. The company will be a self-contained organization with its own canneries, box and can factories, transportation facilities, warehouses and shipyards, as well as fishing and marketing organization.

The properties include twelve canneries with a total capacity of 50,000 cases. The average pack for the last five years was nearly 735,000, twelve per cent of the average American pack for the same period. The company operates four passenger and feright vessels in addition to many tugs, barges and auxiliary equipment. Warehouses at Bellingham will hold 1,200,000 cases, and a can factory will produce 125,000,000 cans in a season.

A public offering of securities in the new company is expected.

IYO MARU IS SEVERAL HOURS BEHIND SCHEDULE

Several hours behind schedule the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Iyo Maru docked at the William Head quarantine station at 1 o'clock this afternoon and tied up at the Rithet piers at 2.30 o'clock. Several third class passengers disembarked at this port and about 500 tons of general cargo were discharged here before the Iyo sailed for Seattle. More than 2,000 bales of raw silk made up part of the valuble cargo for the Sound city. The Kaga Maru of the same line will sail from Victoria to-morrow afternoon outbound for China and Japan.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, May 15.—The high mark of halibut receipts for this season was set yesterday when seventeen vessels arrived from the fishing banks with 39,000 pounds of halibut, and average catches of mixed cod and sable fish. The catch is about four times the daily average, and the number of vessels arriving is the greatest for one day since 1926, when a high mark of eighteen was set.

Four vessels with a total cargo capacity of 57,000 measurement tons will constitute the regular monthly service of the reinstated Java Pacific line, it was announced here yesterday. The carriers will be the steamship Pengkalis, Sinantar and Modjokerto and the motorship Binten. The steamships have a capacity of 15,000 tons each, and the motorship 12,000 tons.

The N.Y.K. liner Iyo Maru with 2,400 bales of raw silk and twenty-six cases of finished goods included in her cargo is due here to-night.

Bellingham People Join Scientific Expedition in North

Bellingham, May 15.—Charles R. Stoll and Mrs. Stoll are scheduled to sail from here on the Pacific American fisheries steamer Redwood to-morrow for False Pass, Alaska, to join Harold McCracken and a party of scientists on the auxiliary-powered schooner Effie M. Morrissey.

The expedition is sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History and is to search through the Aleutian Islands for what is believed to be cave-sheltered mummies of prehistoric men who traversed the islands and became the first settlers of North America.

According to McCracken the mummies were said to have been buried in caves, decked with gorgeous trappings, much like those found in the tomb of King Tutankhamen of Egypt.

The Morrissey is commanded by Capt. Robert Bartlett, who also commanded the Roosevelt when Commander Peary sailed on the vessel and discovered the North Pole.

BRIDGE WORK ON E. & N. ACTIVE

First Span on Trent River Bridge Completed; Other Work Progresses

Work has been completed by the Canadian Bridge Company on the first steel span, replacing the old structure at Trent River on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, it was announced by H. E. Beasley, general superintendent of the line, this morning. The work was finished on Saturday and Sunday nights when the train traffic over the bridge was light.

The contractors have been at work on this bridge for some time, and 140,000 cubic yards of earth fill has been finished at the south end. It is expected to install the second steel span on this structure towards the end of this week, completing the renewal of the bridge as a permanent part of the line's Island system.

Following the completion of the Trent River work, installation of a large steel span at Big Qualicum River will commence to also make this bridge a lasting structure with earth fillings, concrete abutments and strong steel work.

The Trent River and Big Qualicum bridges are on the Courtenay branch of the system. There are also three spans on the Port Alberni subdivision which the Canadian Bridge Company is to renew. The approaches to these have been filled and when the installation of new spans is finished, the bridge work on the railway will be in repair to stand heavy service for several years to come, Mr. Beasley stated.

Also in the E. & N. improvement programme this year is the relaying of about seven miles of rail, mostly on the Cowichan Lake branch. Heavy steel is now arriving for the main line, while lighter rails will be laid on the lake branch.

For the facilitating of handling lumber shipments, the company is also laying three new sidings, two at Chemainus and one at Mayo.

DISAPPEARANCE IS MYSTERY

Two Men Supposed to Be Aboard Melita

Hamilton, Ont., May 15.—"My husband had no business worries, and if he did not sail he would have communciated with me immediately," said Mrs. William McKenzie of this city, when interviewed on a report that the steamship officials could furnish no particulars regarding the alleged disappearance of her husband from the steamship Melita, which reached Glasgow May 9. Rev. W. A. Wilson, whose address is given as Vancouver, also disappeared form the vessel, and the authorities are at a loss to offer an explanation for his absence. C. M. Heming, steamship agent, who arranged McKenzie's passage, said he wrote from Father Point, Que., while sailing down the St. Lawrence, and there was no doubt he was on board.

"He had a return ticket paid for, and he had every intention of coming back," said Mrs. McKenzie.

His mother died a short time ago and he was going to spend four weeks with his aged father, and there were some business matters which required his attention while in his native land.

Vancouver, May 15.—The Rev. W. A. Wilson, of Vancouver, reported missing from the steamer Melita, is not known in this city. He is not listed in the city directory or the telephone directory, and an exhaustive inquiry among the clergy of Vancouver to-night failed to reveal his identity.

ears ago there was a Rev. W. A. Wilson engaged in missionary work here among the East Indians, but he is now a missionary in India.

DESERT BLOOM

The greatest blessing for which the ancients longed was to dwell "in green pastures by living waters." When the Preacher in the Book of Ecclesiastes speaks of "the pitcher at the fountain or the wheel broken at the cistern" we have a sad picture of suffering following lack of water. Arabs call Damascus "earthly paradise" because of its streams.

People long ago in eastern countries learned to build dikes and ditches to store the overflow of the wet seasons against the dry months.

About 200 years before the birth of Christ eight tribes had to leave the valley of Saba, Arabia, because their river wall gave way.

Sculptures and paintings from old Egypt show the peasants raising up water from the Nile 4000 years ago. The simplest and earliest form of water-raising machinery was a pole with a bucket at one end balanced across a beam and a weight at the other end. Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1928

This is a day of many conflicting planetary influences, according to astrology, which finds the sway disturbing to dwellers on the planet Earth.

The early morning is fairly good for financial transactions and especially lucky for those who pay their debts.

Newspapers should benefit, for there is a prognostication of exciting events that stir public interest.

This should be a fortune rule for all who advertise and usually benefical for personal publicity.

Independence should be the keynote while this rule prevails, for it will avail little so seek financial or other aid.

China is subject to continued revolutions and the country is menaced by the most serious conditions.

There is a sign supposed to stir up the minds of the people and to cause careful consideration of political and governmental matters.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect a year of surprising and fortunate events in their lives.

Children born on this day probably will be orignal and talented but much misunderstood. They should be wisely trained and carefully educated.

In the Balkans and in China it is foretold that great military dictators will arise.

CITY REPEALS SEWER BY-LAW

No Further Saanich Connections Will Be Made, Rules City Council

By a five to four vote of the City Council last night the northwest sewer agreement with Saanich was repealed. The action came after a determined drive by Alderman William Marchant, who said Saanich had varied the terms of an agreement drafted with the city, and had so far not paid any sums under the plan.

In opening the discussion Alderman Marchant stated that under the terms of the agreement the city was empowered to charge $100 for a sewer connection to private individuals who wished to connect their homes to the northwest sewer on the city's boundary line with Saanich. To recover what was owed to the city by Saanich, he said, the city would have to have some 600 sewer connections, and this was an improbable amount to expect from the present arrangement.

HEALTH REPORT

A condition existed in Saanich near the city boundary that had provoked a report of the medical health authorities, stated Alderman E. S. Woodward. Open sewers had run down the roadside, to the detriment of the countryside, he contended. It was to ease this condition of affairs that A. E. Todd, while water consultant to the city, had proposed the agreement with Saanich.

A similar agreement was in force with Oak Bay and working satisfactorily. To blockade Saanich residents near the city from sewer connection wherever possible was to create real menace to health, believed Alderman Woodward.

It was not unreasonable to suppose that the $60,000 which the city contended was owing to it under the sewer construction accounts, would be eventually paid by users of the northwest sewer residing in Saanich. While the city had no legal right to the claim, there was an undoubtedly moral right of recovery, Alderman Woodward affirmed. A report from Dr. A. G. Price would clarify the situation, he suggested.

Alderman John Worthington remarked that under the provincial health regulations, taxpayers in Saanich had no option but to install sewer connection.

Alderman P. R. Brown stated that there was little use in reviving the northwest sewer dispute at this date. The variation of the agreement by Saanich had created no bar to the engineering of the sewage disposal, and the agreement should stand. The time would soon come when Saanich ratepayers near the borderline would be glad to take over the sewer, he ventured to predict.

Alderman H. O. Litchfield commented that the agreement was at least a signed document between the city and Saanich, and that was an advance on no agreement at all.

Alderman Worthington stated the city had made connections for Oak Bay to the northeast sewer, but so far had collected no revenue. Under the Oak Bay agreement the city was to receive half the fees charged, but no sums had yet been paid, he said.

After further discussion the repeal of the by-law agreement with Saanich in respect to the northwest sewer was put to a vote, and carried by a five to four majority. Saanich will be notified forthwith.

FINE SPORTS EVENTS FIXED

Football, Baseball, Lacrosse and Other Competitions Set For May 24 Holiday

Lacrosse, baseball and football, in addition to a cross-country foot race, water sports, bicycle races and yacht and motorboat races, will be major items in the May 24 celebrations here, according to the final draft of the programme.

Lacrosse, Canada's national game, will be featured on the evening of May 23, when the crack squad from Oaklands School will uphold the honor of the city against the Maple Leafs of Vancouver. The Oaklands team has a splendid reputation in Victoria and the Maple Leafs are outstanding in their class on the mainland. It is expected the local lacrosse fans will witness a snappy display when these boys clash at 6.30 at the Royal Athletic Park.

Three baseball games are slated with the Victoria Capitals taking the field on each occasion against an outside nine.

BASEBALL

On the morning of May 24, at the Royal Athletic, the Caps are booked to engage the Chemainus squad and in the evening at the same grounds with will take on the Alberni sluggers. The third game will be played on Saturday, May 26, when the gobs from the U.S.S. Pennsylvania will display their style against the Capitals at the Royal Athletic.

In the first game of what is to be an annual May 24 competition, the Victoria City football team will tackle Ladysmith in the afternoon of May 24 at the Royal Athletic. This match will be for the Owen Trophy, donated by a citizen of Victoria for yearly play in the city on May 24. A new cup will be put up every year, it is stated, and the match is to be played on the holiday between a representative Victoria team and an outside team.

MARATHON RACE

The cross country marathon will be run on the morning of May 24, the last mile being ticked off on the Royal Athletic Park track about 10.30 o'clock in the morning. The Victoria Motorcycle Club is slated to perform some stunts at this time.

Yacht races off Dallas waterfront on May 23, water sports and an outboard motorboat race at the Gorge on May 24, and bicycle races in the afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, complete the sport programme for the celebrations.

A Cupboard Love you'll understand

DAD'S a popular man when he brings home a box of Downyflake Doughnuts. Yes, it may be "Cupboard Love," but it's excusable. All Mothers and Dads were youngsters themselves once and remember the time when cakes and candy had an irresistable appeal to them, too. And with Downyflakes—well, get a box and taste them and you will be as enthusiastic as the youngest. Flavor? Oh, boy!—made with special downyflake flour, shortened with Crisco and fried in our special doughnut machine, then coated with finest sugar—they are a real treat—free from that old greasiness—you could eat a boxful yourself and still want more.

DICK BARTHELMESS PLAYS IN HIS BEST PICTURE AT CAPITOL

Richard Barthelmess' most ardent admirers have their desires granted this week at the Capitol Theatre, where this highly popular star's latest feature, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," opened auspiciously last evening.

Seven years ago, Barthelmess made a picture called "Tol'able David," and in his present film he has supplied the demand for another such role.

The novel by John Fox, Jr. has been given intelligent treatment and has resulted in a beautiful and dramatic screen story. Barthelmess has never been more lovable, nor have his histrionic talents ever been shown to better advantage. There is a dreamy, boyish quality in his interpretation that touches a responsive chord in every breast.

Among the stage specialties at the Capitol this week are Kaye and Taggart, former radio stars from station KOMO, harmony singers, with piano and ukulele solos; Pinkie Day, the well-known baritone soloist, who has lately been starred with Eddie Peabody, the popular orchestra leader, in the Fanchon and Marco circuit; Judd McCoy, a specialty dancer in slow motion dances, and Harold Bechtel, the singing master of ceremonies.

THE SILENT NAVY ON SILVER SCREEN NOW AT COLISEUM

Although not produced as propaganda for the Navy, the Britannia Films production "Second to None" at the Coliseum, presents many scenes illustrative of the work of the Senior Service apart from an intriguing story. But although the scenes taken on board the warships will prove wonderfully interesting, it is certain that the scenes taken in the Royal Naval Training Establishment at Shotley, by permission of the Admiralty will be received with rounds of applause.

"Second to None" is the story of a newspaper boy whose ambition is to join the navy and rise to commissioned rank that he may win the hand of his former playmate, Moore Marriott, Benita Hume and Ian Fleming have the leading roles and the production was directed by Jack Raymond under the personal supervision of Miss Dinah Shurey.

To give an added atmosphere to the picture there is a prologue by the members of the Navy League of Canada, with Frederick Shepherd, Scottish tenor, as assisting artist.

AILEEN PRINGLE SEEN IN NEW ROLE AT THE COLUMBIA

Those who know Aileen Pringle upon the screen as a portrayer of sophisticated roles are due to receive a surprise when they see her work in "Body and Soul," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production now being shown at the Columbia Theatre. For the first time in her entire screen career Miss Pringle has a part which demands extremely dramatic action and pictures her as an innocent girl, the very reverse of her former screen sophistication.

Miss Pringle has the role of the beautiful Hilda, heroine of Katherine Newlin Burt's "best seller," and appears opposite Norman Kerry. Lionel Barrymore has the role of the crazed English physician, and T. Roy Barnes is seen as the comical Swiss postman. The picture was directed by Reginald Barker.

"THE LOVE MART" WITH BILLIE DOVE PLAYHOUSE FEATURE

Rum seems to have been a favorite drink in the good old days of the early nineteenth century, especially among the lower classes. Even the noblesse occasionally had a bumper of rum to celebrate some occasion. A strange old inn in "The Love Mart," George Fitzmaurice's production for First National Pictures, with Billie Dove, Gilbert Roland and Noah Beery, which is now at the Variety Theatre, evidences the thirst of the sailor folk and smugglers of that distant day.

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR AIDED MAKING OF HISTORIC FILM

Graham Baker, who adapted David Belasco's stage masterpiece, "The Heart of Maryland," to the screen in the Warner Bros.' production starring Dolores Costello, obtained many valuable suggestions from his father-in-law, William J. Hilburn.

Now over eighty years of age, Hilburn fought with the Seventh Georgians in the Civil War and participated in the battle of Boonesborough Gap, in Maryland, and the accompanying tactics, which took him all over the locale treated in the story.

MARY ASTOR WITH WILLIAM BOYD IN DOMINION PICTURE

The first chance to see William Boyd in a major film production since his work in "The Volga Boatman" is given in "Two Arabian Knights, a post-war comedy drama of a pair of doughboys now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

Mary Astor is his leading lady in this story of the amusing experiences of two soldiers, a rich private and a hard-boiled sergeant, who, through using an Arab disguise to escape from a German prison camp, find themselves in Arabia. Louis Wolheim, who played the original part of Captain Flagg in "What Price Glory?" takes the role of the sergeant.

Boyd, who after only moderate opportunities, received his big chance in "The Volga Boatman," did so well in his part that he has been in constant demand by producers everywhere. The De Mille star felt that he would like to repeat his dramatic success in a comedy of feature size, and so he took the role in "Two Arabian Knights."

The best time for sustained mental work is from late afternoon until midnight or later, according to some scientists.

M.P.'S DEBATE DUMP DUTIES

Proposed Levies on Fruit and Eggs Discussed on Amendment in House

Ottawa, May 15.—A motion for the House to go into supply brought a renewal yesterday afternoon of the debate on anti-dumping, the question was raised by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative, Victoria, B.C., on an amendment to supply. His amendment asks the Government to take steps to control importation into Canada of natural products of a class produced in Canada.

The debate was not concluded last night, adjournment being moved by J. A. Fraser, Conservative, Caroboo, B.C.

Speaking for the amendment, Dr. R. K. Anderson, Conservative, Halton, Ont., said it would be a calamity and a tragedy if the fruit and vegetable growing interests of the country were jeopardized.

STIRLING SPEAKS

Grote Stirling, Conservative, Yale, B.C., protested what he described as carelessness in the use of terms. There was no dumping act, he said, but there was a clause in the customs tariff inserted in 1904 and sponsored by Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, and this had been put in to meet certain conditions. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had endorsed it warmly. Mr. Stirling traced the general effect of the anti-dumping clause since its beginning, and declared that in 1922 the Liberal Government had empowered the Minister of National Revenue to declare what a fair market price was. In 1926 and 1927 the anti-dumping clause had been invoked, and there had been no resulting higher prices. It was a fallacy, contended Mr. Stirling, to say collection of a dumping duty of necessity meant that the consumers paid more.

1928 CROP OF B.C.

British Columbia was looking forward to a good fruit crop this year, but so also were the three Pacific states of the United States. Mr. Stirling knew it was the intention of those states to put their apples into the Canadian market in order to stabilize the United States market. He had a letter from a fruit-grower in British Columbia to show the crops in the states of Washington and Oregon would be the largest on record.

The Western producers were seriously alarmed at the turn of events, and they could not help but feel the Government had shown carelessness toward them, he said.

NEILL SPEAKS

A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, told the House of the effective operation of the dumping duty as it had affected the poultry industry. The importations of eggs from the United States had dropped from more than 3,000,000 to 940,000 dozen during two years. Chinese eggs had declined from 78,000 dozen to 174 dozen in a period of three years, he said.

Mr. Neill noted that at the Economic Conference in Geneva some time ago resolutions had been passed voicing disapproval of high tariffs, but these resolutions did not mean that only one nation should be the goat.

EGGS AND FISH

He made reference to the fact that the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Fisheries included one for a minister of fishing. The fishing industry of the country accounted for an annual production valued at $55,000,000, while the egg production accounted for $80,000,000. Mr. Neill suggested there should also be a minister of eggs.

He could not see that voting in favor of the resolution necessarily would imply lack of confidence in the Government. The terms of the resolution were clear-cut. They expressed no condemnation of the Government, but merely asked that some action along certain lines should be taken in the future.

ROBB SPEAKS

Hon. James Robb, Minister of Finance, said that no doubt if the amendment carried the Opposition would claim it to be a want of confidence motion. What was really sought was an increase in the tariff. It was notable, said the Minister, that many of those who asked increased protection for hothouse products were inconsistent enough also to want no duty on coal. Since 1922 the country had listened to the tales of woe raised by the Opposition, but the fruit and vegetable industry had continued to grow.

H. J. Barber, Conservative, Fraser Valley, declared that on behalf of the producers in his constituency, he would support the amendment.

W. K. Esling, Conservative, Kootenay West, spoke briefly in support of the amendment, and J. A. Fraser Conservative, Cariboo, moved the adjournment of the debate.

HALIFAX WOMAN FINDS RELIEF

Now Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Halifax, N. S.—"I am passing through the critical period of my life and there is not ng to equal Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the ills that come at this time. I was dragging around the house, no energy, every nerve in my body on edge at the least confusion, so that at times I almost wished I was dead. My appetite was no good, I was dull and listless, in fact, I thought I had some dreadful disease. I took three bottles of the Vegetable Compound and it is truly wonderful. That terrible drowsiness and hot flashes have disappeared. I can do my work now without that good-for-nothing feeling. Mothers who have raised families should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. I am sure they will be loud in their praise of it."—MRS. MARY JOHNSTON, 927 Barrington St., Halifax, Nova Scotia.

St. Louis, Mo., May 15.—Thousands of St. Louisians at Lambert-St. Louis Field and Forest Park cheered the arrival yesterday afternoon of the transatlantic Bremen fliers, Capt. Hermann Koehl, Major James Fitzmaurice and Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, who came here to be the city's guests for two days. In the Junkers monoplane F-13, sister ship of the Bremen, the two German fliers and their Irish companion, covered the 350 miles from Milwaukee in three hours and thirty-one minutes, arriving at Lambert Field at 4:33 p.m.
